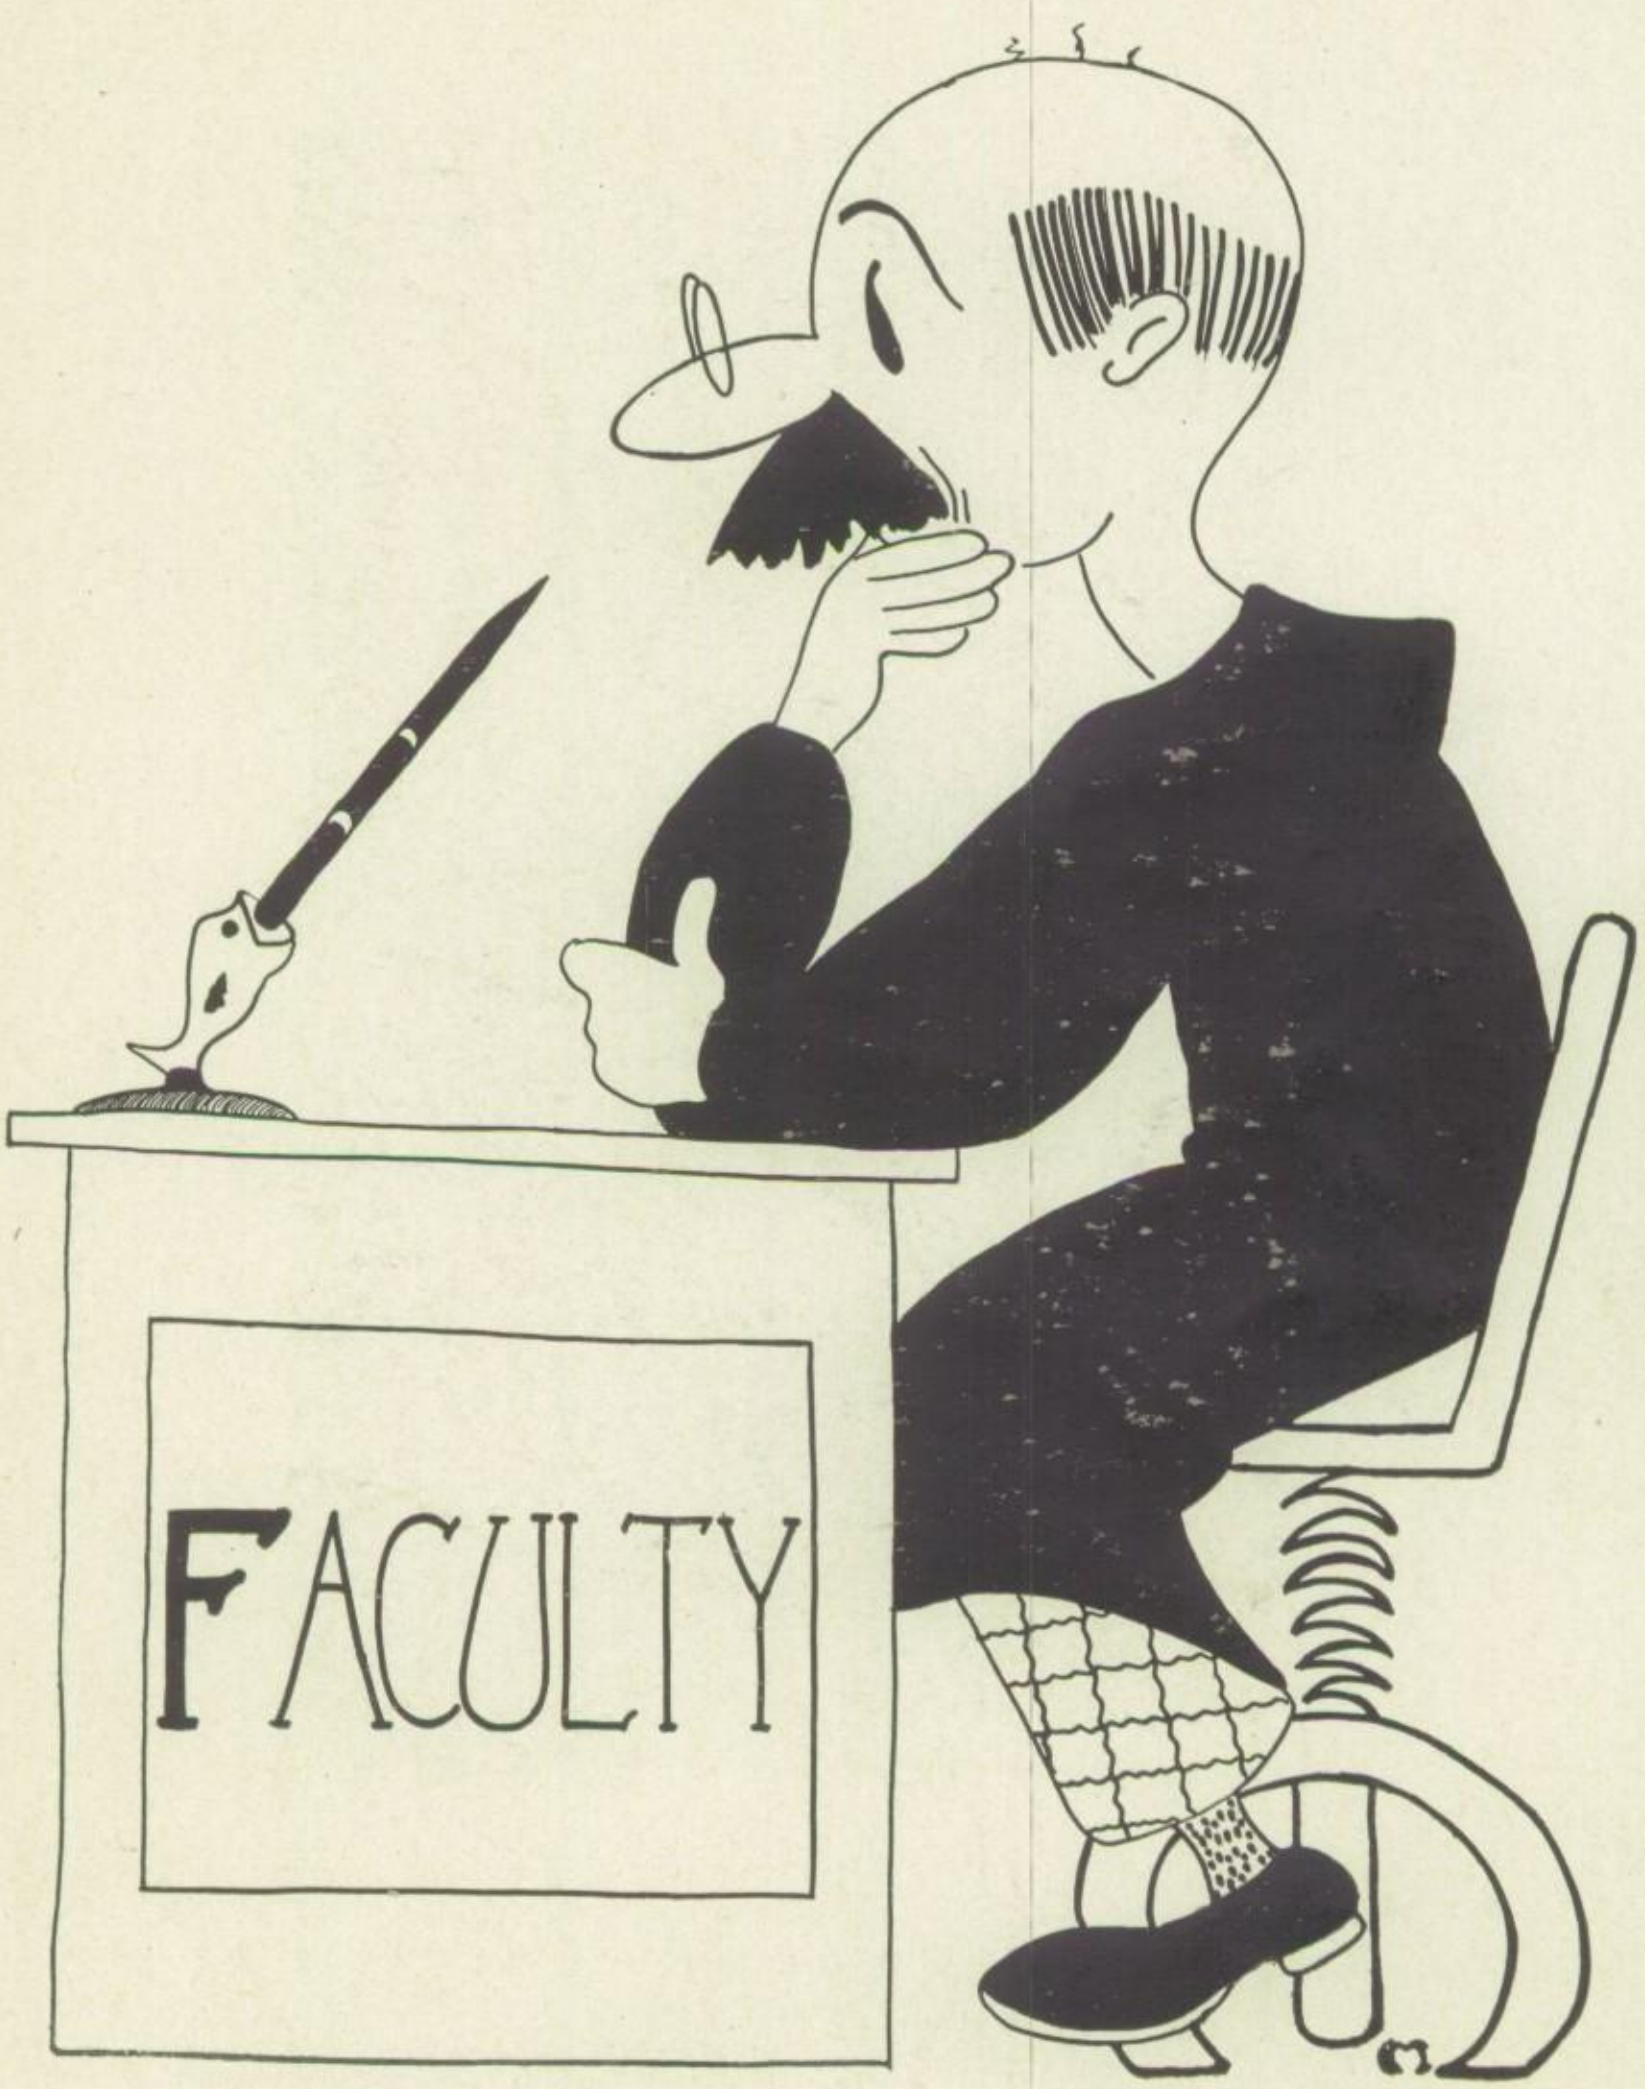
DANIEL O'DOHERTY

An earnest and sincere friend of the students, — one whose efforts can never be too much appreciated, and who will long be remembered by the Class of '41.



FACULTY

WADE L. GRINDLE

PRINCIPAL

Our Instructors

Mr. Wade L. Grindle. To any high school student the most nearly perfect principal is one who understands the problems of the pupils, gives them friendly advice, and cooperates with their activities. Most fortunately we are able to say that we have this kind of person in our principal, Mr. Grindle. He has always kept himself in close touch with all the students; he knows each and every under classman as well as the seniors. The new Student Council could have given him some trouble, but instead he gave it ample freedom. As a result, such changes as those in the study halls have come about. One of our most sincere wishes is that our full appreciation of Mr. Grindle will be recognized.

Mr. Bertram A. Albro. If being able to talk intelligently on any subject and being a friend to everyone are signs of a magnetic personality, Mr. Albro has personality plus. His popularity is insured each year because he conducts his classes informally, tells amazing tales, and, above all, keeps up with the times! Whether the subject has to do with books, Latin, or current events, Mr. Albro can always interest all.

Dr. Otis E. Alley. E. M. F.—not electromotive force, but energetic, merry and fascinating are the words to describe the intelligensia of our school, that well-liked scientist, Dr. Alley. Mentally equipped to talk on any subject from chemistry to the proper method of preparing baked beans—and do a good job of it, he continually holds one of the most interesting classes of the school. It is his ability to make the discussions both interesting and enlightening that makes the courses so popular.

Paquita Allison

Miss Frances G. Allison. Small? Yes. Charming? Yes. Interesting? You said it! That's Miss Allison. She can tell you an interesting story about that romantic language and the countries in which it is spoken. She has also a wide knowledge of many varied subjects. If anything is troubling you, no one could assist you better than Miss Allison. Her size doesn't make any difference in her ability to control a large class. She can handle anything!

Miss Marion W. Bailey. Miss Bailey is a dynamic personality who has given verve and enthusiasm not only to the many Dramatic Society undertakings, but to everything with which she comes in contact. The freshman year is a transition period and Miss Bailey, as well as every other teacher in the Wadleigh Building, knows that its benefit is in acting as a rigorous formative period which catapults the Freshmen into their upperclass years.

All of that was on an impersonal basis; but even after the Freshman year, students came under her influence through her dramatic supervision and her choral speech groups. When everyone was in the main building, Miss Bailey had even a greater influence through her actual directions of the class play and the various Dramatic Society productions.

Mr. Edward A. Bartlett. Versatile Mr. Bartlett has certainly shown his ability in the W. H. S. in more ways than one. He begins in the fall of the year as the assistant football coach; in the winter he becomes the basketball coach; and in the spring he narrowly dodges the draft. Between these he even umpires baseball or referees football occasionally. When he isn't engaged in one of the foregoing activities, he teaches bookkeeping to the commercial students.

Miss Ruth Bennett. To try to describe Miss Bennett is similar to an attempt to paint a lovely picture. One cannot catch in words or colors, a charming personality such as hers. Miss Bennett is one of the finest and most likeable teachers in Winchester High. Aside from her attractive appearance and winning smile, she possesses those characteristics which most effectively promote lasting friendships.

Miss Helen Bronson. Arlington—home of Toll House cookies and Miss Bronson—Winchester High thanks you. Miss Bronson is that very attractive person with the pretty clothes who does such a grand job of heading our Commercial Department. Her patience, friendliness, fairness, and delightful sense of humor have made her one of the best liked teachers in school. If you don't take our word for it, just ask any of the commercial students who have been in her classes; one and all will agree that Miss Bronson is "tops."

Mr. Brown. Mr. Brown is that talented and handsome man who came to us at the middle of the year to take over the instruction of the orchestra. His ability to conduct, his charming personality, and his sense of humor made him very popular with all who came in contact with him. All his qualities make us wish that his job were one that would bring him here more than once a week.

Mr. Arthur E. Butters. Mr. Butters, through recognition of his ability in mathematics, was recently made the head of the Winchester High math department. In his spare time outside of school he participates in and exceeds many of his companions in various sports. He is known to Winchester as being outstanding in barnyard golf. The Junior-Senior prom, of which he is a faculty adviser, is made more successful and entertaining through his guidance.

Miss Gertrude Carmichael. Things move so quickly in her classes that the poor tired little freshmen have no time for cat-naps. She tries hard to be the stern Latin teacher, but her wonderful sense of humor can't help breaking through at frequent intervals. Even in algebra she has a way to make the tough problems seem easy.

Miss Beth Clark. Miss Clark is another of the teachers in the Wadleigh who has on her hands the constant worry of the novices in the high school. She is surprised to find out that the pupils don't know about English, but the excellent job she does in teaching them English and French is no surprise to anyone.

Mr. F. Merideth Cooper. Friendly, hard working, Mr. Cooper has certainly made an impression on the students of Winchester High. Through his clever supervision the Student Government is rapidly becoming an important factor in our school. Mr. Cooper's vast experience and understanding of the social conditions of the world, make his classes very interesting and exciting.

Miss Deborah Fenton. No description of the faculty would be complete unless we included a lively and very vital member—Miss Fenton. This year Miss Fenton coached an undefeated basketball squad and a hockey team that lost but one game. In addition to her laudable activities in the gymnasium, she assisted Mr. Hayward in producing a successful Vau-devil Show; and she played on the well-known eleven of the Boston Hockey Association. We are indeed indebted to Bouve for so able and energetic an instructor.

Miss Pauline Goodrich. Pencil sketching, oil painting, water colors, pastels, or poster works,—take your choice, add your own individual talent, and the capable supervision of Miss Goodrich and what is the result? A masterpiece! Contrary to outward inclinations, however, Miss Goodrich is quite a different person in that she enjoys the wide open spaces, the desert sunsets, and the wonderful horses of the West. So if you want any information on this subject, go to her and you will go to an authority.

Mr. Samuel M. Graves. Mr. Graves, besides worrying about the incoming freshmen, industriously hammers into their seemingly diminutive heads such facts as "the Rosetta Stone was found near one of the mouths of the Nile and not in Babylonia," and so on. As faculty adviser of the Year Book, he occupies himself in agitating the advertising committee to new heights. However, credit is due him mostly for getting those young freshmen started on the right foot for their high school careers.

Miss Verne Hall. Do you know that attractive teacher who never misses a day of school? Of course we mean Miss Hall. She's dignified, calm, and patient; but don't allow her tranquility to fool you. She knows how to turn on a smile and do away with care by a flash of those unfathomable eyes. She's also a very good confidant, so don't forget to look her up when you have a secret sin.

Mr. Raymond Hayward. In room 16 we find Mr. Hayward presiding over the sophomore and senior English classes. Some amusing feats that he does in his spare time in class are either humming or singing to himself, or performing amazing magic tricks. Mr. Hayward, himself an athlete, is the faculty advisor for the A. A. one of the busiest extra jobs in the school, and much of the credit of the Vau-devil Show goes to him.

Miss Mary Hudelson. A happy disposition with a big grin and a friendly word for everyone,—that's Miss Hudelson. She spends most of her time between periods trying to figure out which room she goes to next (she visits nearly all during the course of the day), or where she left that book or those papers. Although she makes an excellent shorthand and typewriting teacher, her heart belongs to her farm in Billerica where she spends all of her spare time. A favorite with everyone, especially the boys, Miss Hudelson will long be remembered by the class of '41.

Miss Beulah Jacks. Our new librarian who hails from Illinois is simply crazy about swimming. However, in school Miss Jacks presides in the library always ready, willing, and very much able to help the students who need it. She is a great asset to our library as the members of the Library Club will tell you. She will always be remembered by our class for her charming personality and delightful sense of humor.

Mr. Robert M. Keeney. Stressing his point by rhythmic thumps on some helpless pupil's shoulder, Mr. Keeney unrelentingly hammers at seniors' brains in an attempt to prove that Wordsworth had it quote "on the ball" end quote. After school, in a more mellow mood, he is always ready to extend an invitation to "have a cigar." Figuring that parents often make mistakes when naming their prodigy Mr. Keeney easily overcomes such misnomers by new ones of his own concoction. Seriously, however, he is a real friend when you're in a tight spot (as long as he's sure you don't "finagle").

Miss Inez Keller. If you see a bright-eyed, very well dressed young lady strolling down the hall with a smile and a cheery word for everyone, there is no need to ask who she is for all know that she is our talented Arts and Crafts teacher, Miss Keller.

Miss Ethel Knowlton. Miss Knowlton is that vivacious little lady with the big personality! Having traveled extensively in France, her pictures and stories are the delight of her French classes. Neat clothes, excellent disposition, friendliness, and a dislike for chewing gum are her chief characteristics. Miss Knowlton has her serious moments also, and shows her ability in the efficient manner in which she manages the sale of the tickets for the Class Play and the Vau-devil Show. A good friend, always willing to help, Miss Knowlton is indispensable to the High School.

Mr. Henry L. Knowlton. Coach Lauer was replaced this year by Henry Knowlton, graduate of Springfield and an alumnus of Winchester High. During his years as a student in high school he was on the Middlesex Championship Team. His ability for coaching football and baseball has been shown by the products he has turned out. A vigorous athlete himself and a lot of fun in gym class, Coach Knowlton has appealed to all of the students.

Mr. Otis Leary. Faced with the new problem this year—that of having girls in his manual training classes, Mr. Leary overcame it with tact! Unending streams of "Mr. Leary, Mr. Leary" flowed from all corners of the room. If no immediate response came from the one addressed, groans such as these escaped the lips: "I've been doing the same thing for two days now!" "When am I ever going to get anything done?" Girls will be girls, after all, Mr. Leary can't be everywhere at once and the boys need some attention. In spite of it all, he has an unlimited supply of patience and we all like him.

Miss Mary R. Mackedon. Wow!! That's what we imagine and some brave souls even venture to say when this pert mam'selle saunters down the corridor. She is always nattily dressed in the school room and we have even had a glimpse into her "after school hours" wardrobe which sure puts her in the glamour girl category. Oh, we musn't forget to mention Miss Mackedon's interest in the love affairs of various pupils and especially a select few. Seriously though, Miss Mackedon is one grand teacher and person, and we all dread to think of how dull school might be if we didn't have some French and some of her humor to look forward to every day.

Mr. Arnold E. Nichols. Better known as "Coach" is that man down at the Wadleigh, who greets everybody with a smile! Mr. Nichols is rapidly becoming the backbone of our varsity football team, for it is he who teaches the "greenhorns" the fundamentals.

Miss E. Gladys Niven. Although she is not well-known personally to most of the students, Miss Niven is recognized and admired for the efficient way in which she manages our school cafeteria. Personality Adjustment, a subject which many of our senior girls are taking advantage of is another of Miss Niven's duties. Miss Niven has a smile for everyone and does not seem to lose it even though she has a great many responsibilities.

Miss Florence A. Parker. All you sophomore and freshmen need not shake in your shoes at the thought of having Miss Parker as your English instructor in a year or two. Oh yes, we know you have heard all about her hot temper, etc., but her goodness and sincerity make up for that minor detail. Always ready to lend a helping hand or listen to a tale of woe, Miss Parker has won a place in the heart of everyone in the school.

Miss Lenna M. Peabody. Although Winchester High has always appreciated a real teacher, it took Miss Peabody's recent illness to show us her real worth. Don't let those glasses fool you, for behind them there is a sweet but confident woman who tops from advertising to teaching anatomy. Miss Peabody has been influential in advertising the school's activities, but she need not advertise herself because she just "stands out."

Mr. William H. Rogers. Mr. Rogers teaches the freshmen and the sophomores the "beloved subjects" of algebra and geometry. His afternoons are busily spent helping those who cannot quite get it. In the spring, however, he is often seen coaching the tennis team of which he has charge. Our new member of the faculty has certainly won the hearts of all the pupils and the faculty of the Winchester High School.

Mr. Small. Migration from Wilbraham Academy to Winchester High this year resulted in their losing and our gaining not only a good English teacher, but also an experienced director who contributed greatly to the success of the Junior-Senior Class Play. Although Mr. Small presents a dignified appearance underneath his suave manner, you will find a keen sense of humor and a fine disposition in him. We all welcome a new friend, teacher and director, and hope that the pace he has set will be equaled and excelled in the coming years.

Mrs. Ella M. Stacy. Far from being prehistoric, our able instructress in Room 13 (?) has an up-to-the-minute understanding of everything from the New Deal and the tariff to the foreign situation. No one knows how she does it, but she can turn out any date between 1492 and 1941, and, with a bountiful smile, can tell her students everything that goes with it. Besides teaching history, she advises the Thrift Association with experienced judgment. Last but not least, her guidance, with that of Mr. Butters, has always been behind a successful and never-to-be-forgotten Prom.

Mr. John D. Stevens. That debonair gentleman with the smooth clothes who rules room 35 with an iron hand is no less than Mr. Stevens. (J. D. to some lucky students.) Besides making Junior English interesting to said pupils, he is one of the faculty's basketball stars and has the important job of coaching the Juniors during their editorship of the Red and Black. J. D. Stevens has a way with him that makes him seem more of a friend than a teacher and is, without a doubt, one of the best-liked teachers in the school.

Miss Florence E. White. The teacher of shorthand and geography in room 27 is that attractive young lady with a soothing voice, Miss White. Although this is only her second year with us, already she has won her way into the hearts of both the pupils and the other teachers. You have only to go up to her and mention football or dancing and you will discover her weaknesses. Moreover, she is the faculty adviser for the Red Cross, and under her supervision it has become a very successful organization.

Mr. J. Albert Wilson. Too few W. H .S. students know Mr. Wilson, the little man who leads the chorus. He not only plays the piano, but also sings tenor, bass, and sometimes even soprano—but only to illustrate a point. But he really does a wonderful job training the chorus to sing at graduation. or just for the heck of it; and when you know him he is a swell person.

Mr. R. Burns Winslow. Mr. Winslow, presiding over business arithmetic and current history classes in the Wadleigh Building, has certainly made a name for himself with the track team. Tall and athletic-looking, Mr. Winslow is a familiar sight down at Manchester Field with his hat pulled down over his eyes coaching our team.

Perhaps it is the fact that Fred was born in Canada that accounts for his being able to rattle off French so well. Or maybe he has a secret formula for learning it. Athletics, charm, and good sportsmanship are second nature to "Hel," who has received two of the most significant honors in the school this year—captain of an all but undefeated hockey team and the winner of the coveted Wheeler Cup. Absolutely unimpressed by the success she has achieved in tennis, hockey, basketball, and swimming, she remains reliable and helpful—a swell friend and a girl who we feel sure will succeed.

Pastimes: Playing the guitar, saxaphone, and piano; Bowling, Listening to the 920 Club.
Activities: Freshmen football; Red Cross; Football; Basketball.

Born in Winchester, Mass., May 6, 1923.
Pastimes: Skating, working on autos.
Activities: Football, '40; A. A.
Favorite Sport: Hockey.
Secret Ambition: To drive a racing car.

Have you noticed how often Mott is star gazing, but there being no stars in the day time he is undoubtedly looking for a solution to his date problems, which apparently are numerous. When this is found, he probably won't know what to do; we hope that it won't be drastic. But all in all, Mott is a fine sport in every way.

GEORGEANNA COLE
"SADIE" "COGY"

Born in Beverly, Mass., May 29, 1924.

Scholastic Intentions: "College—anywhere they will take me."
Favorite Sport: Skiing and sailing.
Secret Ambition: "If I told you, it wouldn't be a secret."

Ann is that vivacious little lady whose effervescent spirit you just can't keep down. Generous, warm-hearted, cute and capable are a few of the many adjectives to describe such a magnetic personality as hers. She has a special gift of chasing the blues, getting things done, and enjoying life, which all go to make the one grand girl that she is.

BARBARA ALICE COLLINS
"BARBIE"

Born in Winchester, Mass., October 20, 1924.
Pastimes: Dancing, skating, bowling, and movies.
Favorite Sport: Bowling.
Secret Ambition: "To drown the devil in the deep blue sea."

Barbie is one of the pretty blonds that are the pride of the senior class. She appears to be quiet, but we know better. Barbie seems to like the movies —perhaps it is the theatre, she always patronizes the same one. To sum up Barbara the least we can say is that she is a swell pal.

PHYLLIS M. CONDRAN

"PHYL"

Born in Boston, Mass., March 6, 1923.
Pastimes: Tennis, Skating, Reading.

Scholastic Intentions: Nursing school.
Favorite Sport: Tennis.
Secret Ambition: "To jump from the fire to the frying pan."

Phyllis is that senior with the curly blond hair and a way of talking so fast that no one can understand her. Her love for sports has been proven by the active interest she takes in basketball and tennis. When you hear that very cute little giggle, (usually at the wrong time) you may be sure that it is "Phyl."

ROBERT FRANCIS CONLON

"BOB"

Born in Winchester, Mass., May 31, 1924.
Pastimes: Swimming, dancing, riding and skiing.
Activities: A. A. Dramatic Society.
Scholastic Intentions: American College at Rome (Italy).
Favorite Sport: Swimming.
Secret Ambition: "To make Mrs. Stacy a Democrat."

Don't let that serious pose fool you, "Bob" is really quite the opposite of this picture. We know him to be a good swimmer, a fairly decent rider. In spite of his questionable dancing abilities and his partiality for F. D. R. we wish "Bob" the best of luck.

ROSE MARIE CONWAY

"BUB"

Born in South Boston, Mass., July 29, 1924.
Pastimes: Rollerskating, reading, and movies.
Activities: A. A.
Favorite Sport: Rollerskating.
Secret Ambition: To stop blushing.

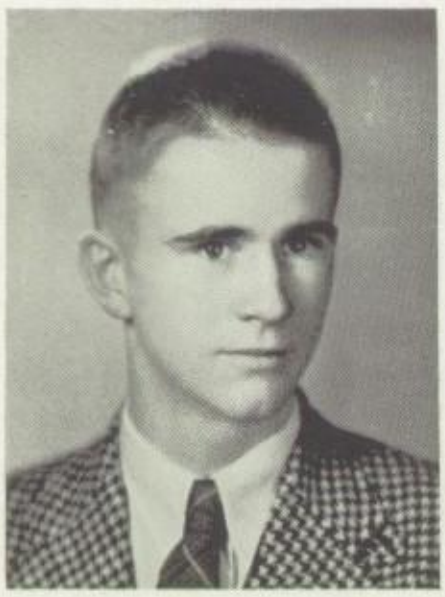
Rose is one of those (fortunate or unfortunate) people whom trouble doesn't trouble. She seems to be one of the shy girls in school, but outside it's a different story. Although we do not hear much about her admirers, we do know a great many of her week-ends are spent in Randolph. Movies are her passion, and she is a great reader.

KATHERINE MAY COOKE

"KAY"

Born in Camden, New Jersey, May 4, 1923.
Pastimes: Sailing, dancing, singing, painting, and playing the trombone.
Activities: Year book staff, '41; Vaudeville show, '41.
Scholastic Intentions: Study water colors, oils, and sculptoring.
Favorite Sport: Sailing.
Secret Ambition: To raise horses in Vermont.

Although she only came to Winchester a year ago, it didn't take Kay long to know Winchester or for Winchester to know and like Kay. When one said, "She's got that unusual combination of brains and beauty," she was not speaking amiss; for Kay's magnetic personality found its way to all. The only regret is—we wish she had come here sooner.



JAMES H. COON, JR.

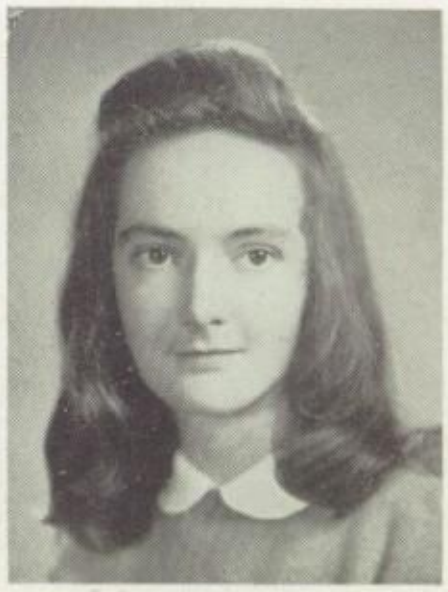
"JIMMY"

Born in Boston, Mass., September 23, 1923.
Pastimes: Ping-pong, bridge, and writing.
Activities: Varsity basketball, '41; Varsity tennis, '39, '40, '41; Red Cross, '38, '39, '40; Traffic, '39, '40; Junior-Senior Class Play, '40; Vaudeville Show, '39, '40, '41.
Favorite Sport: Tennis.
Secret Ambition: To be drafted.

Jimmy is perpetually ready to smile sardonically and tell you that you look terrible. A marvel on the stage, a genius with a tennis racket, a sensation with a basketball, and a cueball with his haircut, he occasionally extends his versatility towards scholastic endeavours. We prognosticate future happiness for Jimmy and have sincerely enjoyed personal association with him at WHS.

MARGARET COULSON

"PEGGY"



Born in West Medford, Mass., June 22, 1923.

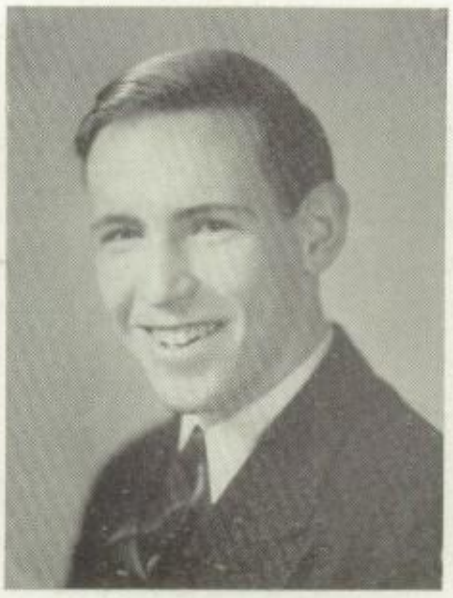
Activities: Thrift, '38, '39; A. A. representative, '39; Traffic, '41.
Scholastic Intentions: Some junior college.
Favorite Sport: Skiing and sailing.
Secret Ambition: To ski in Sun Valley.

With a pair of laughing eyes, and an air of mischief about her, she goes dancing, or should we say skiing her way through life. She may be labeled anything from scatter-brained to slap-happy, but the vivacious spirit and striking personality overcome everything.—That, ladies and gentlemen, can apply to only one person—"Peggy" Coulson.—Take a bow "Peg."



ROBERT WESLEY CROSS

"BOB"

Born in Winchester, Mass., August 8, 1923.
Pastimes: Driving my car.
Activities: Football, Science Club, A. A.
Favorite Sport: Sailing.
Secret Ambition: "To sail the South Pacific as captain of a schooner."

"Bob" is one of the outstanding scientists of the school. He is one of the two tall fellows you see either rushing around in the physics or chemistry lab. While he isn't in the laboratory, he is usually in his supercharged, two-toned buggy riding over to Medford or some other neighboring town. As all his classmates know him, he is a peach of a fellow.

MARY CROWLEY

"KIT"

Born in Cambridge, Mass., July 23, 1924.
Pastimes: Reading, walking, knitting.
Activities: Thrift, '40; Vaudeville, '39 and '40; Traffic '40; A. A.; Yearbook advertising staff.
Scholastic Intentions: Business school.
Favorite Sport: Tennis.
Secret Ambition: "To get a wonderful job."

Mary arrives at school each day the perfect example of "what the well-dressed young lady will wear." Those smooth-looking sweaters are the products of her own tireless (?) efforts, and she knits them while listening to the strains of Tommy Dorsey's orchestra. If appearance, a swell diposition, and a whole lot of ability have anything to do with it (if they haven't Miss Bronson's been giving us the wrong "steer") Mary has that "wonderful job" ready and waiting for her.

NORMA CROWLEY

"NORM"

Born in Boston, Mass., April 23, 1923.
Pastimes: Dancing, singing, and movies.
Activities: Vaudeville Show, '39, '40; A. A.
Favorite Sport: Swimming.
Secret Ambition: To get on a rollercoaster without being afraid.

Small, but possessing some of the best qualities, attractive, a sparkle in her eye, and sweet, is Norma. Perhaps we can best find her in her true character when she is on a smoothy waxed ballroom floor, swaying to the tune of her favorite orchestra.

MARIE CUCOLO

"COOKIE"

Born in Winchester, Mass., May 25, 1923.
Pastimes: Bowling, dancing, and collecting swing records.

Scholastic Intentions: Wilfred's Academy.
Favorite Sport: Bowling.
Secret Ambition: To sing with Glen Miller's Orchestra.

"May I have the next dance"? "Yes," replies Marie. Do you want to know why this question is asked her continuously from the moment she steps on a dance floor to the time she leaves it? The answer is loveliness, personality, and the ability to dance combined. Marie, don't forget us when you gain fame.

MARY ELIZABETH CULLEN

"MAYM"

Born in Woburn, Mass., April 11, 1923.
Pastimes: Reading and movies.
Activities: A. A.; Cum Laude.
Favorite Sport: Tennis.
Secret Ambition: "To succeed in running up a gum tree and sticking to it."

Mary is that cute little senior, with the long glamorous hair, whom we always see walkisg around the halis with a smile on her face. She is best described as a happy-go-lucky sort of a girl. What makes her so happy we don t know, unless it is that tall, dark, and handsome junior. We all wish her the best of luck and happiness in the years to come.

DELPHINE CURTIS

"DEL"

Born in Marlborough, Mass., February 28, 1924.
Pastimes: Working.
Scholastic Intentions: Simmons College.
Favorite Sport: Tennis.
Secret Ambition: Retail Buying.

Arlington certainly lost a valuable asset when Winchester gained "Del." She has only been here a year, but she hasn't lost any time in making a place for herself. Tall, attractive, and distinctive, she has endeared herself to many by her sense of humor and love of excitement. We are sure that "Del" will be a great success.

RICHARD F. DUTTING

Activities: A. A.; Science Club '40, '41; Track '38, '40, '41.
Scholastic Intention: Northeastern.
Favorite Sport: Track.
Secret Ambition: To get to bed on time some night.

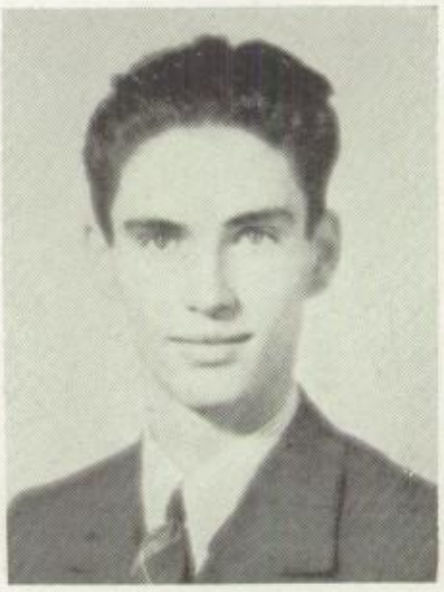
Being one of the technical minds of the school, "Dick" can usually be found scurrying about the science labs on some project or another. His quiet outward manner is a strong contrast to his inward keeness in the mechanical train. "Dick's" companionship and personality will long be remembered by all his classmates.

HAROLD ELLIOTT

"JUNIE"

Born in Winchester, Mass., February 22, 1923.
Pastimes: Hunting, Fishing, Hockey, Swimming.
Activities: A. A. '38, '39.
Favorite Sport: Baseball.

Harold is that tall attractive fellow that doesn't realize it. He has never been known to take part in a fight or to pay much attention to women. You may hunt the wide world o'er and you will not find one so quiet. Much of his time is spent raising chickens and he is certainly making progress in his work.



RUTH ELLIOTT

Secret Ambition: To be an Interior Decorator or get married. Perhaps both.

Featuring a suave young lady with expressive dark eyes, and a certain "cheedo" something which makes her hard to forget,—a candidate for glamor plus! This is "Cricket" with ideas on how to be yourself in spite of it all. Clever and original, she also possesses a deep understanding for the finer things in life.

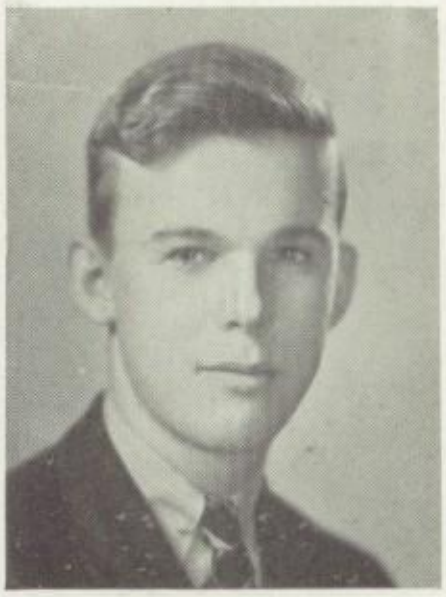
Activities: Cross-country, '41; Track, '41; Orchestra.
Scholastic Intentions: Northeastern University Engineering School.
Favorite Sports: Skiing and Canoeing.
Secret Ambition: To take a canoe trip in the Canadian Northwest.

"Len" is the "flash" you see in the fall trotting along at a good pace on the cross country team, and in the spring he's still running on the track team. Some day he is bound to reach the top. "Len" is not a "man about town" nor is he a "women hater," but he's just a "regular guy."



ANN MAE ERRICO

"ANNE"

Scholastic Intentions: Wilfred Academy.
Favorite Sport: Football.
Secret Ambition: To find the perfect specimen of manhood.

"Anne"—the "sweetest thing this side of heaven." With a winning smile and a personality hard to beat, it is no wonder the men are always flocking about her. She never shows a bit of temperament or disgust because she is too busy "getting fun out of life." If you ever fulfill your ambition, "Anne," find a few for us.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.
Favorite Sport: All Sports.
Secret Ambition: To pilot my own plane.

Strong and silent "Frank" came into his own by being a member of the basketball team during his sophomore and junior years. The possessor of many qualities of excellence, Frank is good, but not too good; studious, but not too studious; conscientious, but not too conscientious;—in other words, made to our liking. Best of luck from the class of '41, "Frank."

Secret Ambition: To be as happy in the future as I have been in the past.

Though she has only been with us two short years, Irene has already made a name for herself; but with her never ending laughter and warm-hearted friendship why wouldn't she? Sincerity, generosity, personality, plus good looks, and vivacity all go toward making up a marvelous girl—one who we know will succeed in whatever she attempts.

His dual personality makes him adaptable to both driving in Newton with "her" and making sciences and math gamma seem "snap" courses, as well as executing skiing technique as a master. A grand fellow and a sure bet; that's Tasker!

Berta is one of the class glamour girls without a care in the world—except West Point which seems to have developed into more than one care. What's the matter, Berta, isn't one brass-buttoned cadet enough? With a reputation of being a smooth dancer and with her sparkling brown eyes that "gets 'em," can we blame the military academy for fulfilling her ambition?

Tall, slim, and attractive describes Margaret to a "T." Her winning smile and radiant personality attract all who are near her. "Al" is one of those big fellows who say very little around school, perhaps to compensate for his physical size. He believes that although speech may be silver, silence is golden; and he minds his own business and expects, without being disagreeable, that others do likewise. "Al's" patience and quietness, however, can be used as great assets.

Besides her love for swing music, there is also her love for a certain "glamour boy" from Reading, who is known to be deeply infatuated with Lucille's delightful dimples (and who wouldn't be?) Confidentially, the people who don't really know "Lulu" are missing a lot of fun.

Secret Ambition: "To be Dictator of the world and be more popular than Hitler."

One-fourth of temperament and three-fourths of happiness make up that little package of dynamic personality called "Fish." A loud voice, a shock of red hair, and an abundant supply of good nature, that's "Ted." As far as we can tell, his primary hobby is driving. If in later years you were to find it hard to get an after-dinner speaker, look up Ted. He's always willing to give a lengthy dissertation on the family car.

What more could one ever possibly want in the line of sports? To supplement these qualities, he has a pleasing personality including an irresistible smile which everyone, including the girls, always notices.

Favorite Sport: Bowling.
Secret Ambition: "To drill General Pershing."

"Stogie," as most of us have known him in school, is a rather quiet and conservative boy. However, he isn't always this way. When things become extremely dull in the school, or particularly in the study halls, Stogie is just the one to brighten them up. Probably Winchester High won't be the same when he has graduated.

History of the Class of '41

The first chapter opened in the book entitled The Class of '41 when about two hundred boys and girls enrolled in the Wadleigh School in September, 1938. We were a bewildered group of boys and girls at first, but we weren't bewildered long, because we got under way by electing Craig Greiner, President; Jane Armstrong, Vice-President; Joan Moffette, Secretary; and Peter Hickey, Treasurer of the class of 1941.

Out of the twenty-one acts in the Vau-Devil Show that year, nine of the acts were put on by members of our class, who were as follows: Maxine Lybeck, Eleanor Randall, Zoe Tibbetts, Joan Moffette, Berta Magnusson, Elinor Reeves, Nancy Christianson, Marie Cucolo, Dominic Cimina, Polly Kimball, Bonney Wilson, Clair McGrath, Janet Hayward, Marjorie Mahoney, Elsie Grey, Harry Dodge, and Brock Lynch.

The Freshman Class had their own football team known as the Heebie Jeebies. They played a regular five game schedule and the A. A. awarded the members of the team their 1941 numerals. The freshman girls' hockey team came through and won their numerals also. Basketball was not so kind to us in the Wadleigh, that is to the boys, but the girls had a large squad. When Spring rolled around, a boys' freshman nine was organized and they played several games. The girls, not to be outdone by the boys in the class, also had a baseball team. Those boys who felt the urge to run went out for track, and a few of them made the team.

The honor roll was rather small when the first quarter came, but after that we hit the books a little harder and consequently we improved our honor roll standing immensely.

We closed our freshman year looking toward the hill on which the main building stood, knowing that next year we were going to be up there with the upper classmen.

The second chapter started and we were running madly around trying to find room so and so. We were rather thrilled being up here with the upper classmen. At least the girls were thrilled.

We now had more chance to enter the athletic field and the various clubs of the school, and before the year was over we were well represented in athletic events and in the various organizations.

We felt we were part of the school now, so we started off by electing Ray Harris, President; Helen Carroll, Vice President; John Geoghegan, Secretary; and Brock Lynch, Treasurer.

Frank Marabella and John Geoghegan represented our class on the gridiron, and the sophomore girls who made the varsity field hockey team were Helen Carroll and Anna Errico. Quite a few of the boys received second team letters in football and basketball. Rose Gaudioso and Joyce Maxson were the only girls in our class to receive first team letters in girls' basketball.

In the Spring we saw Jim Coon, Lane McGovern, and John Penniman on the tennis court. Polly Kimball and Dolly Greene made the girls' tennis team. As we took a squint at Manchester Field we saw these sophomores out for track: Pete Hickey, John Spaulding, John Tracy, Jack Meltzer, and Proctor Jones. On the baseball field we saw John Geoghegan, Mike McCormack, Jim Stygles, Jim McClellan, Frank Marabella, John Maguire, Bob Harris and Jack Errico.

The second chapter in the lives of the students of the class of '41 is brought to a close.

The third chapter opened again in September; and we began to think that we were somebody, but the seniors did their part in keeping us in our places.

The class officers this year were Frank Marabella, President; Lane McGovern, Vice-President; Jim Grimes, Secretary; and Art Tetreault, Treasurer.

As football season ended, the following wound up on the first team: Dan Roop, Jim Stygles, John Tracy, Mike McCormack, Frank Marabella, Joe Caputo, Sam Keyes, and Joe Palumbo, captain elect for next year. The Junior girls came through in flying colors in girls' hockey with four girls making the varsity. They were Janet Hayward, Dolly Greene, Joyce Maxson, and Helen Carroll, captain elect for next year. In boys' basketball we found Frank Farley, Craig Greiner, Jim Coon, Lane McGovern, Joe Palumbo, and Art Tetreault, fighting demons, on the second team. Joyce Maxson and Elinor Reeves held up the girls' end of the bargain in basketball, and Joyce was elected captain for next year. In Cross Country were Pete Hickey and captain elect Dick Palson, with Russell Murphy as manager.

In the Spring of our Junior year we took a trip to a track meet and there we saw Bill Flewelling, Dick Palson, Dick Dutting, and Proctor Jones flying around the track or putting the shot. On the baseball diamond we saw Mike McCormack, Nick Molea and Jim McClellan, captain-elect of the next year's team. On the girls' soft ball team, Virginia Foley and Joyce Maxson were on the regular squad. Next we took a peek at the tennis situation and on the boys' team we saw Jim Coon, winner of the Ned Barnard Tennis Trophy, John Penniman, and Lane McGovern, and if we went down to the tennis courts the next day, we saw Hellen Carroll, Polly Kimball, and Dolly Greene serving nothing but "aces" to their opponents.

It was our turn to take over the management of the school paper, the Red and Black, and we did it with great success. Leila Jane Smith, Harrison Parker, Lane McGovern, and Elnora Terhune were editors.

The leads in the Junior-Senior class play were taken over by Jim Coon and Jane Armstrong, with Brock Lynch, Leila Jane Smith, Peter Hickey, Barbara Waugh, and Dan Roop all helping to the utmost.

We are beginning to become leaders now, because we are represented in every sport, club, and committee in the school.

We close the third chapter as next year's leaders, and we have not only been outstanding in athletic events, clubs, and committees, but we have shared honors in scholarship.

The fourth and final chapter starts off with an entirely new A. A. Board. Leading the board is Art Tetreault, following him comes Sam Keyes, next comes Polly Kimball as secretary, Marge Harris as financial secretary, and with the following on the board: Janet Smith, Helen Carroll, Mike McCormack, and Lane McGovern.

Now it's time to elect class officers, and Mike McCormack is President, Jim Stygles is Vice-President, Brock Lynch is Treasurer, and Janet Hayward is Secretary.

Football was in the air then, so under the able leadership of Captain Joe Palumbo we had a pretty good year considering the size of the team. Dick Palson, that long legged track star, led the cross country boys this year through the Fells. Helen Carroll captained the girls' hockey team to a very successful season.

Student Government, that new organization just started in the last year or so, was taken over by Jim Stygles as President, and Polly Kimball as Secretary. The traffic chief was Ray Harris, with Frank Farley, Jim Grimes, and Dick Palson as able lieutenants.

Dick Merrow was elected president of the Science Club, Pete Hickey of the Thrift Association, Lane McGovern of the French Club, and Polly Kimball, president of the Red Cross, with Joan Moffette as vice-president.

After the A. A. Banquet, Helen Carroll and Joe Caputo walked out hugging the Wheeler-Mansfield cups that they had won for being fine athletes and students.

In boys' basketball we had Jim Coon, Art Tetreault, and Lane McGovern on the first team. Joyce Maxson was a fine leader in girls' basketball.

The Junior-Senior class play was a success this year and the entire cast did a fine piece of work in acting. The seniors who took part in the play were Barbara Regan, Jane Armstrong, Arnold Smith, Brock Lynch, Doris Thornton, Pete Hickey, Claudia Robinson, Dot Welch, Ann Jo Woodward, Marge Harris, prompter and Dan Roop, stage manager.

It's Spring again, and the spring sports are under way with Jim McClellan leading the Winchester nine to victories. In tennis we find Jim Coon, Lane McGovern, and John Penniman, winner of the Ned Bernard Tennis Trophy, all co-captains. As yet the captains of the girls' baseball team, tennis team, and boys' track team are not known, but whoever they may be, the members of the Senior Class wish to congratulate them.

We notice that Lucille Mantini, as Editor-in-Chief of the Aberjona, got things under way in grand style, but left school a little while later. From there Leonard Sherman took over and completed the work.

Well, the time is drawing near, so we seniors have to buckle down for the last lap of our four years in Winchester High. They have been four memorable years, and if the future years of our lives are only as enjoyable as these last four years have been, I am sure the class of 1941 can ask for nothing.

I, Ray Harris, bring to a close the last chapter of our book, The Class of '41.

Ray Harris,
Class Historian.

Class Prophecy

SCENE: The Great World Metropolis of Winchester.

TIME: 1971.

Winchester—new, great capital of the United Nations of the World, of the post-war era! What an achievement of scientific accomplishment this magnificent city represents, its growth, expansion, and wonders rivaling a fantastic tale from the Arabian Nights.

In the exact center of this metropolis, rising 379 stories into the sky, is a gigantic building, whose tower-topped pinnacle of gleaming gold dominates the sky-scraper landscape.

This great building, whose colossal height and floor expansion dwarf the Rockefeller Center days, before the second World War, is the brainchild of the world's greatest engineers: Dick Merrow, Leonard Sherman, George McQueen, Leonard Erikson, Arnold Smith, Joe Caputo, and Peter Hickey. These masterminds have, in the tower rooms of the building, offices designed by interior decorator, Ruth Elliott. Upon returning from a research tour of the world, we visit this world-famous building. The office door is opened by General Manager Sam Keyes, who directs us to the central switchboard, presided over by glamorous Mary Cullen and her snappy assistant, Ruth Bond. What familiar names we see on the list of Head Secretaries who serve these busy engineers: Ruth Joslin, Jean Boliva, Elisa Gilberti, Lucille Mantini, Velina Luongo, Claire O'Loughlin, and Beatrice Pattee.

After a chat with our engineer friends, we visit the Personnel Department. Feet on desk, and large cigar in his mouth, is the Director of Personnel, Frank Marabella. Some other visitors are waiting to visit Frank. They are men of the new International Navy and their ship has just docked. We recognize Commander Andrew Buzzotta ("Skinny" to his old friends) and Bosun Carmine Luongo telling tall stories to Captain Kendall Batten and his Naval Aide, Bob Callahan. Chief Naval Engineer Joe O'Leary is a smiling listener.

A warm handshake from Director Marabella sends us on our way, accompanied by Head Personnel Guide, Marshall Goodnough, who takes us to the Tower Roof, where Jim Grimes presides over his Inter-Continental Rocket Service. His aides, Frank Cefali, Paul Field, Harold Elliot, Ralph Jury, and Tommy Carroll are right on the job, frantically pushing hundreds of buttons which control thousands of "thing-a-ma-jigs." Four stream-lined ships, piloted by Jim McClellan, George Hatch, Francis Farley, and Ralph Cefali are ready to take off. We salute the pilots and note their grim-faced mechanics Frank Capone, Jack Maguire, Kenneth Joyce, and Arthur Haggerty. The last to board the planes are the most attractive hostesses: Claire McGrath, Constance Murphy, Mae Mulhern, and Catherine Procopio.

Our personnel guide transfers us to Building Guide Clement Landry who takes us five floors below to the White Cross Hospital, the gift of the U. S. Steel King, Lane McGovern. In charge of this medical center are two of the world's greatest surgeons, Proctor Jones and Brock Lynch, and the great Podiatrist, James Stygles. They have just finished operations on Charlotte Benson, the great French teacher; Irene Farrell, the successor to Myrna Loy; and Elizabeth MacPartlin, professor at the Whynot University (founded by the millionaire Graham Whynot). The hospital nursing staff is under the able supervision of Joan Moffett and her efficient head nurses, Nina Underwood, Virginia Parker, Mary McCaul, and Margaret Maguire. Their assistants, Anna Grant, Barbara Geoghegan, and Phyllis Condran have patients James Murray, Nick Zamanakos, and Bill Phippen following them around in motor wheelchairs.

Our guide takes us next to the Chemical Laboratory where Tasker Hatch, winner of last year's Nobel Prize, is working himself into a frenzy trying to discover what a polymorphonuclearlucocyte is. In the Chemical Library are four great scientists: Richard Dutting, Robert Cross, Kenneth Hills, and Hartley Ralston, who are collaborating on their forthcoming scientific study, "How to Diminish Friends and Disintegrate People." Their typists, bookkeepers, and private (very, very private) secretaries are working at top speed, trying to keep up with the endless stream of double-talk. They are Shirley Roth, Jean Pentz, Jean Strout, Mary Crowley, and Louisa Molinaro.

It is now time for dinner, so we take the elevator to the famous Star Dust Club, owned by that enterprising young man, Eben Ramsdell. As anyone can tell you, the setting of the club was designed by Loretta Power, the famous artist.

The dignified head waiter, Bob Conlon, assigns us to a table near the window. We order dinner and prepare to enjoy the smooth music of Joe Talone's orchestra, featuring soloists Pasquale Ferraina, playing his singing violin, and the beautiful soprano voice of Dorothy Welsh. Dorothy's singing receives harmonization from Marjorie Mahoney, Virginia Foley, Jennie Frotton, Rose Conway, and Charlotte Irwin.

The feature act of the evening is "The Ice Follies of 1971," starring Maxine Lybeck, and her beautiful chorines: Ruth Carrier, Grace Kelley, Barbara Anderson, Carol Wallis, Barbara Collins, Helen MacDiarmid, Mary O'Neil, and Palma Todesca.

Watching the floor show from a special table are some famous government officials: the new Secretary of Inter-Continental Affairs, Harrison Parker, and his aides, William Rogers and Joe Zaffina. The fourth member of their party is J. Edgar Hoover's successor, "Iron Mike" McCormack.

Some famous world travelers, Bob Griffiths, Charles (Red) Irving, Bob Sheehan, and Joe Palumbo, glue their sea-going eyes on some pretty dancers, Elsie Grey, Norma Crowley, and Eleanor Abruzzi. Between acts they flirt with some female retail buyers at the next table, Delphine Curtis, and the Pentas — Petrina and Camille.

At a large round table in the mezzanine are seated some of the foremost athletes of the times: Davis Cup winner, Jim Coon, Ryder Cup winner, John Meltzer; track stars Dick Palson, Bruce Underwood, and Ted Harris; and boxers Nick Molea and Edward Sullivan.

Among the other notables in the mezzanine are Barbara Wright, baseball magnate, whose teams have won nine straight world's championships; Myrtle Wombolt, famous teacher and developer of a new educational system; and Claudia Robinson, author of that never-to-be-forgotten book, "Forget Me Not."

It is time to leave now, but our way is interrupted by a squad of policemen, led by Chief Ricky Abrahamson, and Commissioner Mott Clark, escorting the radical multi-billionaire John Penniman and his gorgeous wife, Zoe Tibbetts, still upholding their hallowed tradition of never being on time.

As we leave the great building, we recall the many very, very pleasant memories of our school days when the class of 1941 was not quite so famous, and we hope sincerely that the friendships we have formed will continue far beyond the year 1971.

Class Oration

Save perhaps in the far away time, when the Saviour of Mankind was crucified on the Cross never has there been so much history in the making as we members of this graduating class of Winchester High School now are seeing. The whole world seems to have gone mad. Storm clouds blacken the earth. Angry waves beat upon our shores.

The future we face would be dark and terrifying, indeed, if we did not have proved principles and institutions on which to place our trust.

How does the sailor know that the guiding beams of the Lighthouse on the shore will warn him of the dangerous shoals? "It always has," he says, "and always will. It is built to withstand all storms."

And so are our American institutions. Members of this Graduating Class have every faith and confidence in our schools, our institutions, our government, and our people. Our American institutions are lighthouses built on the solid rock of sound principle. They have weathered, and will weather, every storm. Time and experience have tested their efficacy. The waves of war, depression, panic, and pestilence have beaten against them in vain.

Nothing can stop the heartbeat of our Nation as long as the Beacon Lights of our American Institutions are kept burning.

How can we keep them bright and shining? By upholding what our education has taught us to uphold and by living up to our ideals. Our ideals figuratively are the oil which keeps the beacon lamps alight.

"Better than land, or gold, or trade
Are a high ideal and a purpose true."

The glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome passed, not from enemies without, but from foes within. We must guard our institutions with an eternal vigilance, if our Country is to keep its place in the forefront of the nations of the earth. American institutions will live only as long as American ideals. Without such ideals, no government can keep step in the march of progress. Forward! Ever forward! We can not live in the past.

"If all our finest deeds are done
And all our splendors in the past,
If there's no battle to be won
What matter if today's our last?"

Yesterday is gone. Today is here. Tomorrow is just around the bend. Yesterday's dreams are today's realities. Wireless, radio, airplanes, moving pictures, all realities of today, were but yesterday's dreams. Television is here. We are on the threshold of other and greater inventions. The world of tomorrow is going to be a wonderful world indeed.

"Yes, yesterday's dream is today's reality,
And Tomorrow—what of Tomorrow?"

We, the members of this graduating class of Winchester High School, face Tomorrow with a calm and confidence born of the proven strength of American ideals and American institutions. We have met the crises of the past; we will meet the crises of the future.

Our government is elastic. We can trim our sails to the wind. If changed conditions necessitate changes in our government, these changes will be made orderly and without turmoil and confusion. Evolution, not revolution, is the American way. We Americans never have revolted against ourselves. We never will.

Our Ship of State has weathered all storms of the past. It will sail safely through the tumultuous seas of the Future.

"Thou, too, sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Our hearts, our hopes are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—are all with thee!"

History of the Junior Class

September, 1940 dawned bright and clear as we Juniors, one hundred and seventy strong and more cocky than ever, tramped our way into another year of school. With our customary enthusiasm and pep, we elected Bert Callanan, athletic star, as class president, while the ever-popular Leo Treacy took office as vice-president. As secretary we chose Robert Harris (he's not "little" any more) with William Dowden to hold the money bags. (?)

All through that fall Peter Provinzano, Dean Derby, Bert Callanan, Jim Whittemore and others brought yells from the grandstands as they carried the "pigskin" down the field. Peter Provinzano, who captains next year's team, was even awarded a cup for his outstanding playing in the Woburn game.

Not only in football did the Juniors shine, but also on the cross country course, with Bob Phippen (captain-elect), Robert Collins, Donald Phillips, and George Whitten all "cross countrying" their hardest.

Not to be outdone by the masculine element, "Dinny" Foote, Janet Doub, Ann Downer and Alice Davis did their all for the hockey team, which ran up only one defeat. "Dinner, lunch, and supper, tea" Foote was deservingly elected to carry on next year.

Around about this time Shirley Brackett, Tom McCarthy, Betty Pride, and Bob Nichols made their debut on the stage in the Junior-Senior class play "Young April." At other intervals during the year talented Juniors also appeared in the dramatic society play.

A glance at the Honor Roll showed that our capacity for work was a little under par, but who believes in facts and figures now-a-days?

We just can't keep our hats on, our heads have swelled so much—what with having a JUNIOR, Peter Provinzano, as basketball captain. Besides being captain, "Pete" also carried the honor of highest scorer. Other noteworthy players (Juniors all) were Bert Callanan, Donny Drew, and Dean Derby, captain-to-be. On the second team Paul Rallo, with his beautifully timed shots, walked off with the title of honorary captain.

It was the scrappy Junior basketball team that upset the Senior Quintet 40-13 in the intra-class competition with Peter Provinzano as coach, and Harris, McAuliffe, Tibaudo, Murphy, and Kennedy doing the playing.

Juniors also contributed a majority toward girls' first team basketball during their undefeated season. Janet Doub was chosen to lead the team next year.

With that unmistakable "Junior" touch, we took over the "Red and Black" and threw ourselves into it as heartily as we supported the Vau-devil Show. Was it our singing, our dancing, and our "chorus" girls that made this event a sell-out? We think so, (but of course we're prejudiced!)

In the spring sports, track and baseball, the boys zipped their way into the midst of things. Provinzano, Murphy, Collins, McAuliffe, Rallo, Nichols, and Cummings pitched and batted their way around the diamond while Crandall, Herson, Treacy, Mancib, and Harris did their best toward tearing up the dust on the track course.

So now we have stopped thinking of ourselves in terms of Juniors and have started looking ahead to next year, when we shall "try" to fill the Seniors' places.

History of the Sophomore Class

The sophomore class went against tradition and failed to be overawed in any way when they entered the main building last fall. Without delay they cast their ballots for class officers and elected Bill West, President; Pete Twombly, Vice-President; Bob Ramsdell, Secretary; and Marie Moore, Treasurer.

The sophomores had a number of candidates taking part in every sport. Cross-country was represented by John Eaton, Hugh Hawkes, and Bob Johnston making their letters. In football, Blake, Errico, Boodakian, Buzzota, Donahue, Grindle, Jackson, Lentine, Poirier, Redding, Treacy, and West earned their awards.

When winter blew, in the basketball court was overfilled with sophomore basketballers; but when the basketball season ended, the second team awards were handed to Buzzota, Errico, Mooney, Poirier, Twombly, West, and Wright.

This spring the track and the baseball diamond were again filled with spirited sophomores. In track we have Murray, Blake, Treacy, Redding, Eaton and Hawkes. On the diamond are Wright, Goddu, Twombly, Poirier, Holmes, Murphy, Ramsdell, Russo, Luongo, and West.

As we look at the girls' part in activities, they are not far behind the boys. Last fall in field hockey Betsy Drake held down a 1st team position, while Dorothy Richardson, Shirley Palson, and Esther Capone earned second-team letters. The basketball's second-team glamour girls, Marion Philbrook, Joan Wild, Ellen Jackson, and Marjorie Smith earned their letters with the help of the cheering boys.

The Vau-devil Show was a great hit this year. Sophomore boys and girls both took part in it.

History of the Freshman Class

In spite of being warned of the troubles and worries of High School, the Class of '44 entered the Wadleigh showing plenty of pep and eagerness. Soon we wisely chose the following as officers: Richard Fenno, President; Robert Maynard, Vice-President; Barbara J. Smith, Treasurer; Ann Jennings, Secretary.

Ken Harvey led the freshman football team through a dismal season, but a real future was predicted for several players. In basketball the second team was bolstered by such stars as Gordon McGovern, Ted Atkinson, Angelo Amico, Charles Ferro, and Robert Maynard, all of whom showed promise for future years. The girls also packed plenty of athletic prowess, and future teams should benefit greatly by our stalwart athletes.

After settling down to the task of doing homework, we were well represented on the Honor Roll. Freshmen also played many important roles in Dramatic Society performances. The Vau-devil show pointed out several talented freshmen.

We believe that we have reached first base on a square hit and feel sure we will score a home run in 1944.

Football

The 1940 football season is considered by many of the fans to be one of the most eventful within the last few years, the conclusion being based on two principal factors. The first was that Coach Lauer was replaced by Henry T. Knowlton, who was himself one of the best football stars to come out of Winchester High and the captain of the 1927 Mystic Valley League Championship team.

Moreover, the season of 1940 marked the close of the Middlesex League, which, with few exceptions, Winchester has rather dominated. Last year Winchester tied with Belmont for the championship, but this year we came in a good second, only one point behind our keen rivals, Belmont.

As usual, Winchester opened its season on what appeared to be one of the hottest days of the year by playing the "classy" Framingham eleven to a deadlock. Our next encounter came with the strong Wakefield club. This team, however, packed too much power for Winchester and won 19 to 0. In the next game Winchester rolled over the weak Lexington by a score of 26 to 12. On Columbus Day Winchester traveled to Dedham to receive its worst defeat in recent years at the hands of the powerful Dedham boys.

Our team came out of this mediocre playing at this time by defeating that hard-hitting team of Punchard by a score of 13 to 0. Winchester continued to show its prowess by next week conquering the Maynard team by a fine margin of 19 to 0. One of the most exciting high school games that anyone could hope to see was found in the Belmont game. Here, although Winchester was powerful in the ground attacks, it was unable to hold back the air attack of the opponents; and the score was left at a tense 19 to 19. On Armistice Day in a non-league encounter Winchester rallied twice to win from Wellesley 12 to 0. In a game that, if won, would have meant the tie for the championship of the league, Winchester unfortunately played a poor game against the stubborn, underrated team of Stoneham. The final score came out as 0 to 0.

The last game was scheduled for Thanksgiving Day with Woburn as usual. However, the game had to be postponed until the following Saturday on account of the snowstorm. That day Winchester put up a grand fight, but lost to the tune of 12 to 0 to one of the strongest teams that Woburn has ever put on the field.

During the season Coach Knowlton was assisted by Mr. Bartlett and Frank Marabella, who was unable to play because of the nineteen year old age limit. At the fall sports banquet Peter Provinzano was elected captain for the coming season.

The letter men of the squad are as follows: Joe Palumbo, captain, Joe Caputo, Daniel Roop, Sam Keyes, Ray Harris, James Stygles, Robert McCormack, John Tracy, Peter Provinzano, Albert Tibaudo, Bert Callanan, Dean Derby, James Whittemore, James Treacy, Walter Smalley, William West, Robert Jackson, Frank Buzzotta, and John Campbell, manager.

The second team, captained by Leo Tracy, won three games and lost three out of their six game schedule.

Cross Country

The 1940 varsity Cross Country team directed by Coach Winslow and lead by our able captain, Richard Palson, had a fairly successful season winning two out of the six dual meets and tying for third place with Woburn in the six cornered meet.

The ace of this year's team was Dick Palson, who finished first in six out of seven meets. Bob Phippen also was a great asset to the team, and was pushing Dick in most all of the meets. The other varsity letters winners that gave a fine exhibition of running were Hugh Hawkes, the sophomore star, Donald Phillips, Rip Collins, and Robert Griffiths.

The second team was lead by Dick Young and Leonard Erickson closely followed doing a swell job also. The rest of the team who won their numerals were Bob Sheehan, Bob Johnson, George Saltmarsh, John Eaton, and Dan Guttineri.

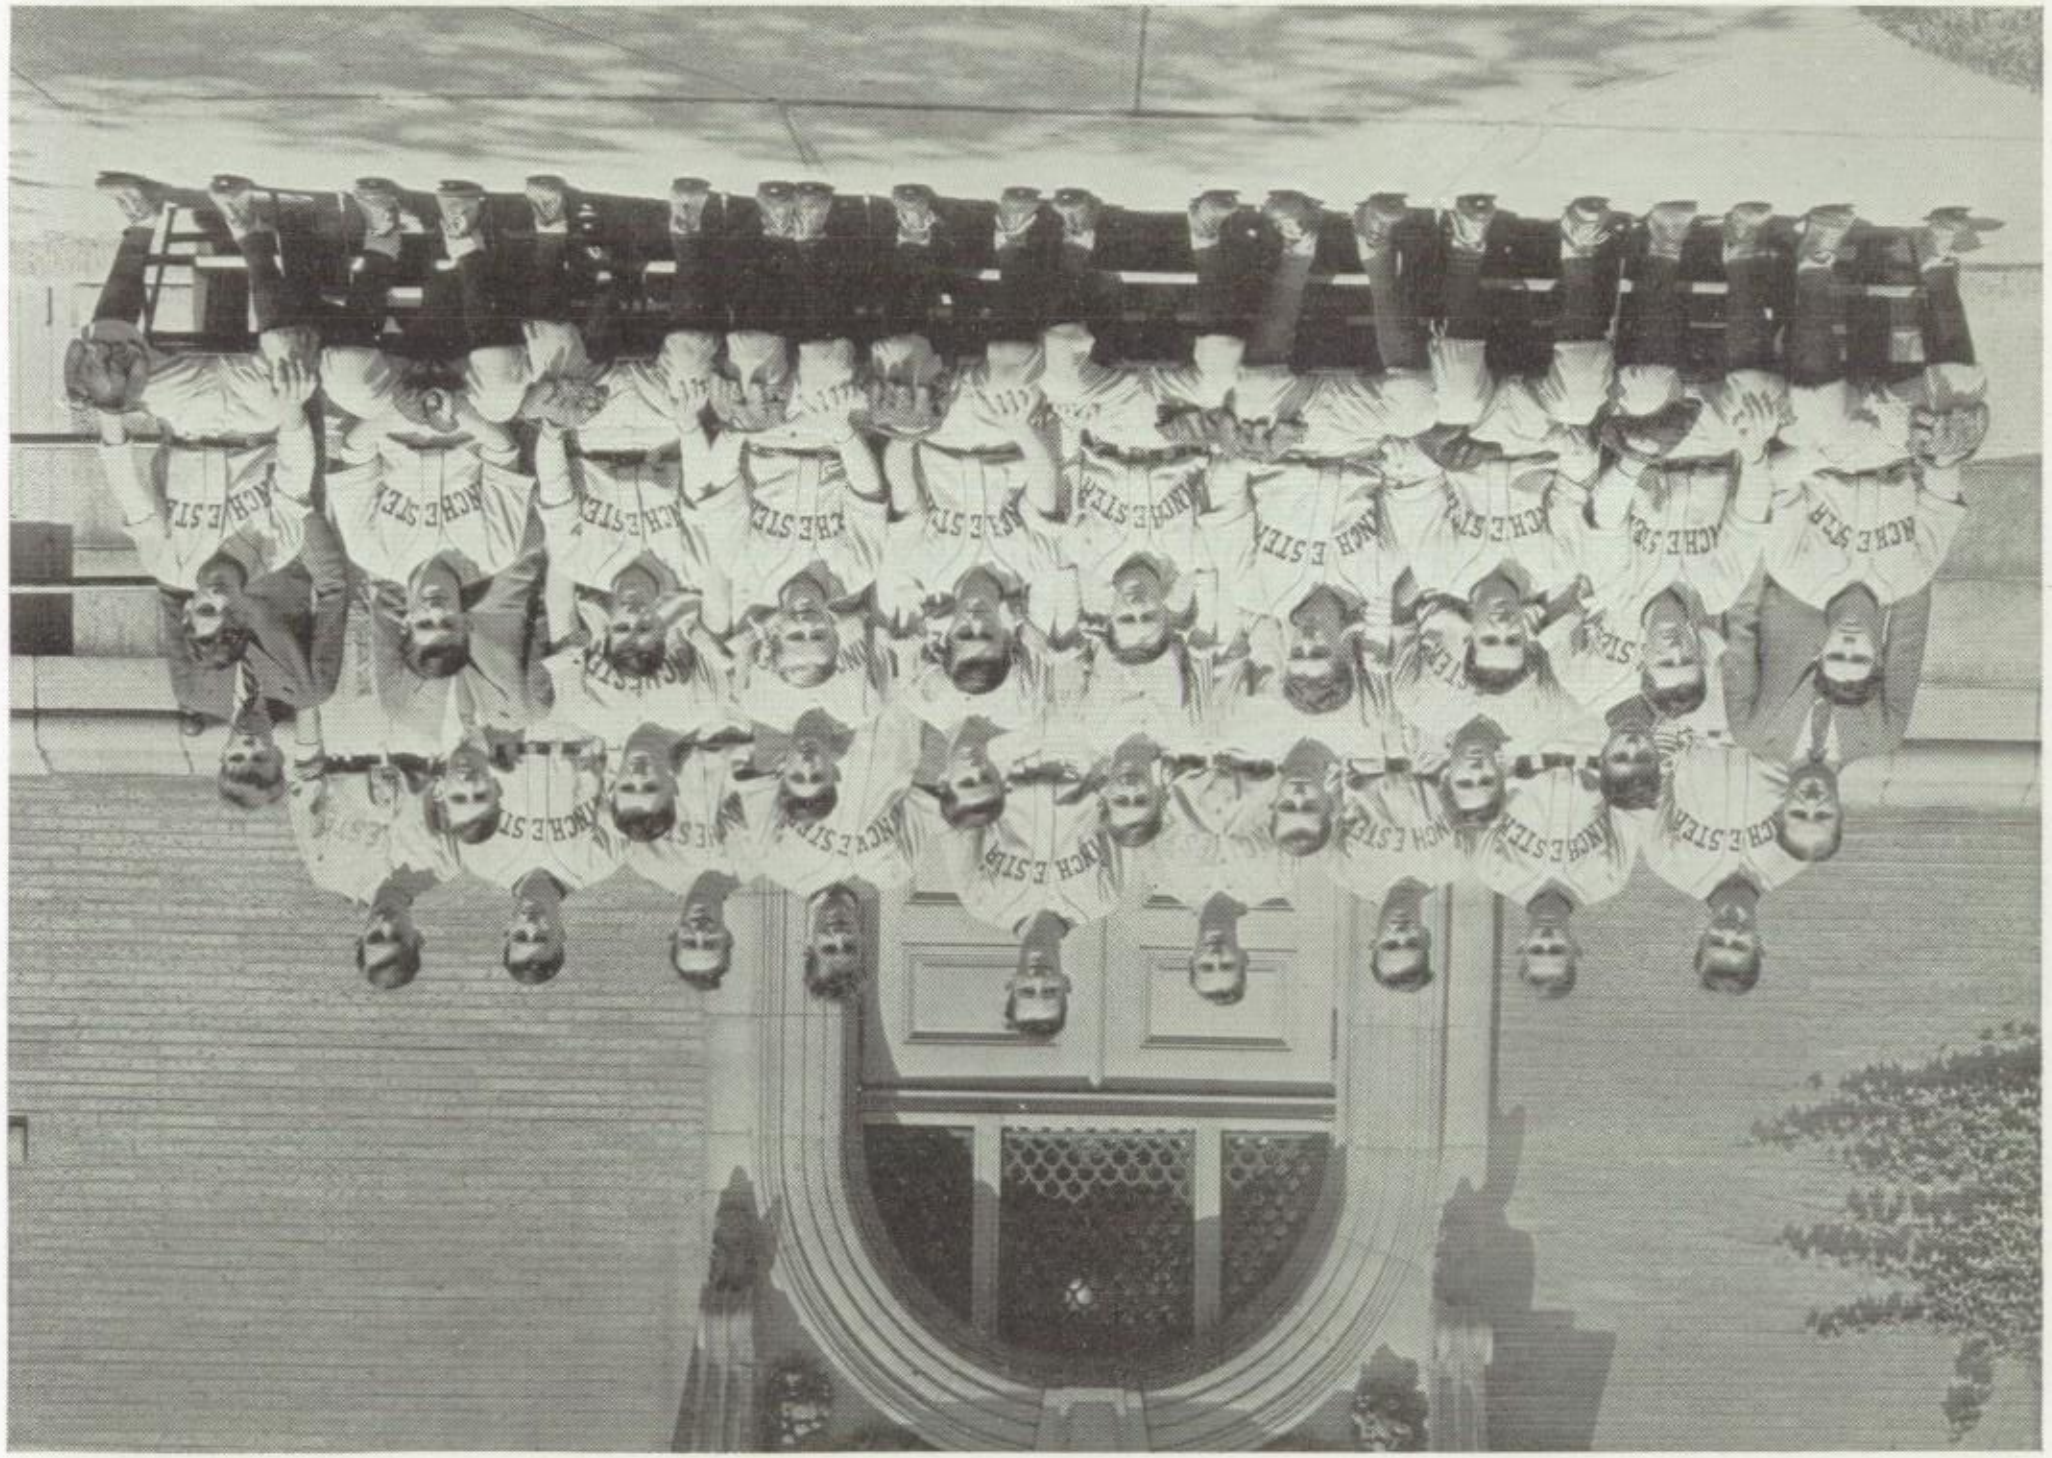
Boys' Basketball

Although the basketball season proved to be reasonably successful, it had an unfortunate start for the Winchester boys. Coach Bartlett was unable to attend several of the early practices because of illness; and, of course, they were not able to practice during the mid-winter vacation. Also Peter Provinzano, who was the captain and the best shot, missed the first two league games that Winchester lost.

However, on the bright side, we see a strong armada of three seniors, Lane McGovern, Art Tetreault, and Jim Coon plus the four juniors, Dean Derby, Don Drew, Pet Provinzano, and Bert Callanan. In the complete season they compiled a score of nine wins and seven losses over a lengthened schedule. In the Middlesex league the score was six wins and four losses, tying Lexington for second place. Belmont won the season.

As the team finished up the season with a spurt, they won six out of their last eight games and missed the Tech Tournament by a few points only. As a matter of fact, they defeated the two teams that did go to the Tech Tournament, Lexington and Belmont. Next year is looked forward to for even a better season, expecting that many of the difficulties that hindered the team at the beginning of the year will be eliminated. Dean Derby has been elected captain for the coming season.

The second team, coached by Andy Lentini, former Winchester High School three letter star, and captained by Paul Rallo, won nine games and lost seven out of a sixteen game schedule.



Baseball

Coach Knowlton's 1941 baseball squad got plenty of exercise this year practicing and playing on Manchester and Leonard Field ball parks.

Of the players that held the highest ranks there was Peter Provinzano, our outstanding pitcher and hard-hitter of the season, (his ability to hit was so great that when he wasn't pitching he was used in the outfield). Bob Harris and "Iron" Mike McCormack also did their share on the pitchers' staff. On first base we have W. Martens, a man from last year's second team who did a great job as a regular this year. On going around to second we have Dick Murphy, who really turned in a commendable piece of work; and arriving at third, we come to the youngest of the Rollo brothers who have taken that hot-corner position for a number of years, and Paul did a mighty fine job of it too.

Taking a look at the fly catchers, we find out in center field the mighty captain, James McClellan, who fields and hits like a natural. Collins, Molea, McAuliffe, O'Connor, Post, West, Duran, Russo, Nichols, Poirer and Shea also gave their all for dear old Winchester High. The manager on this year's team was William Hodge, who should be commended for his usual excellent work.

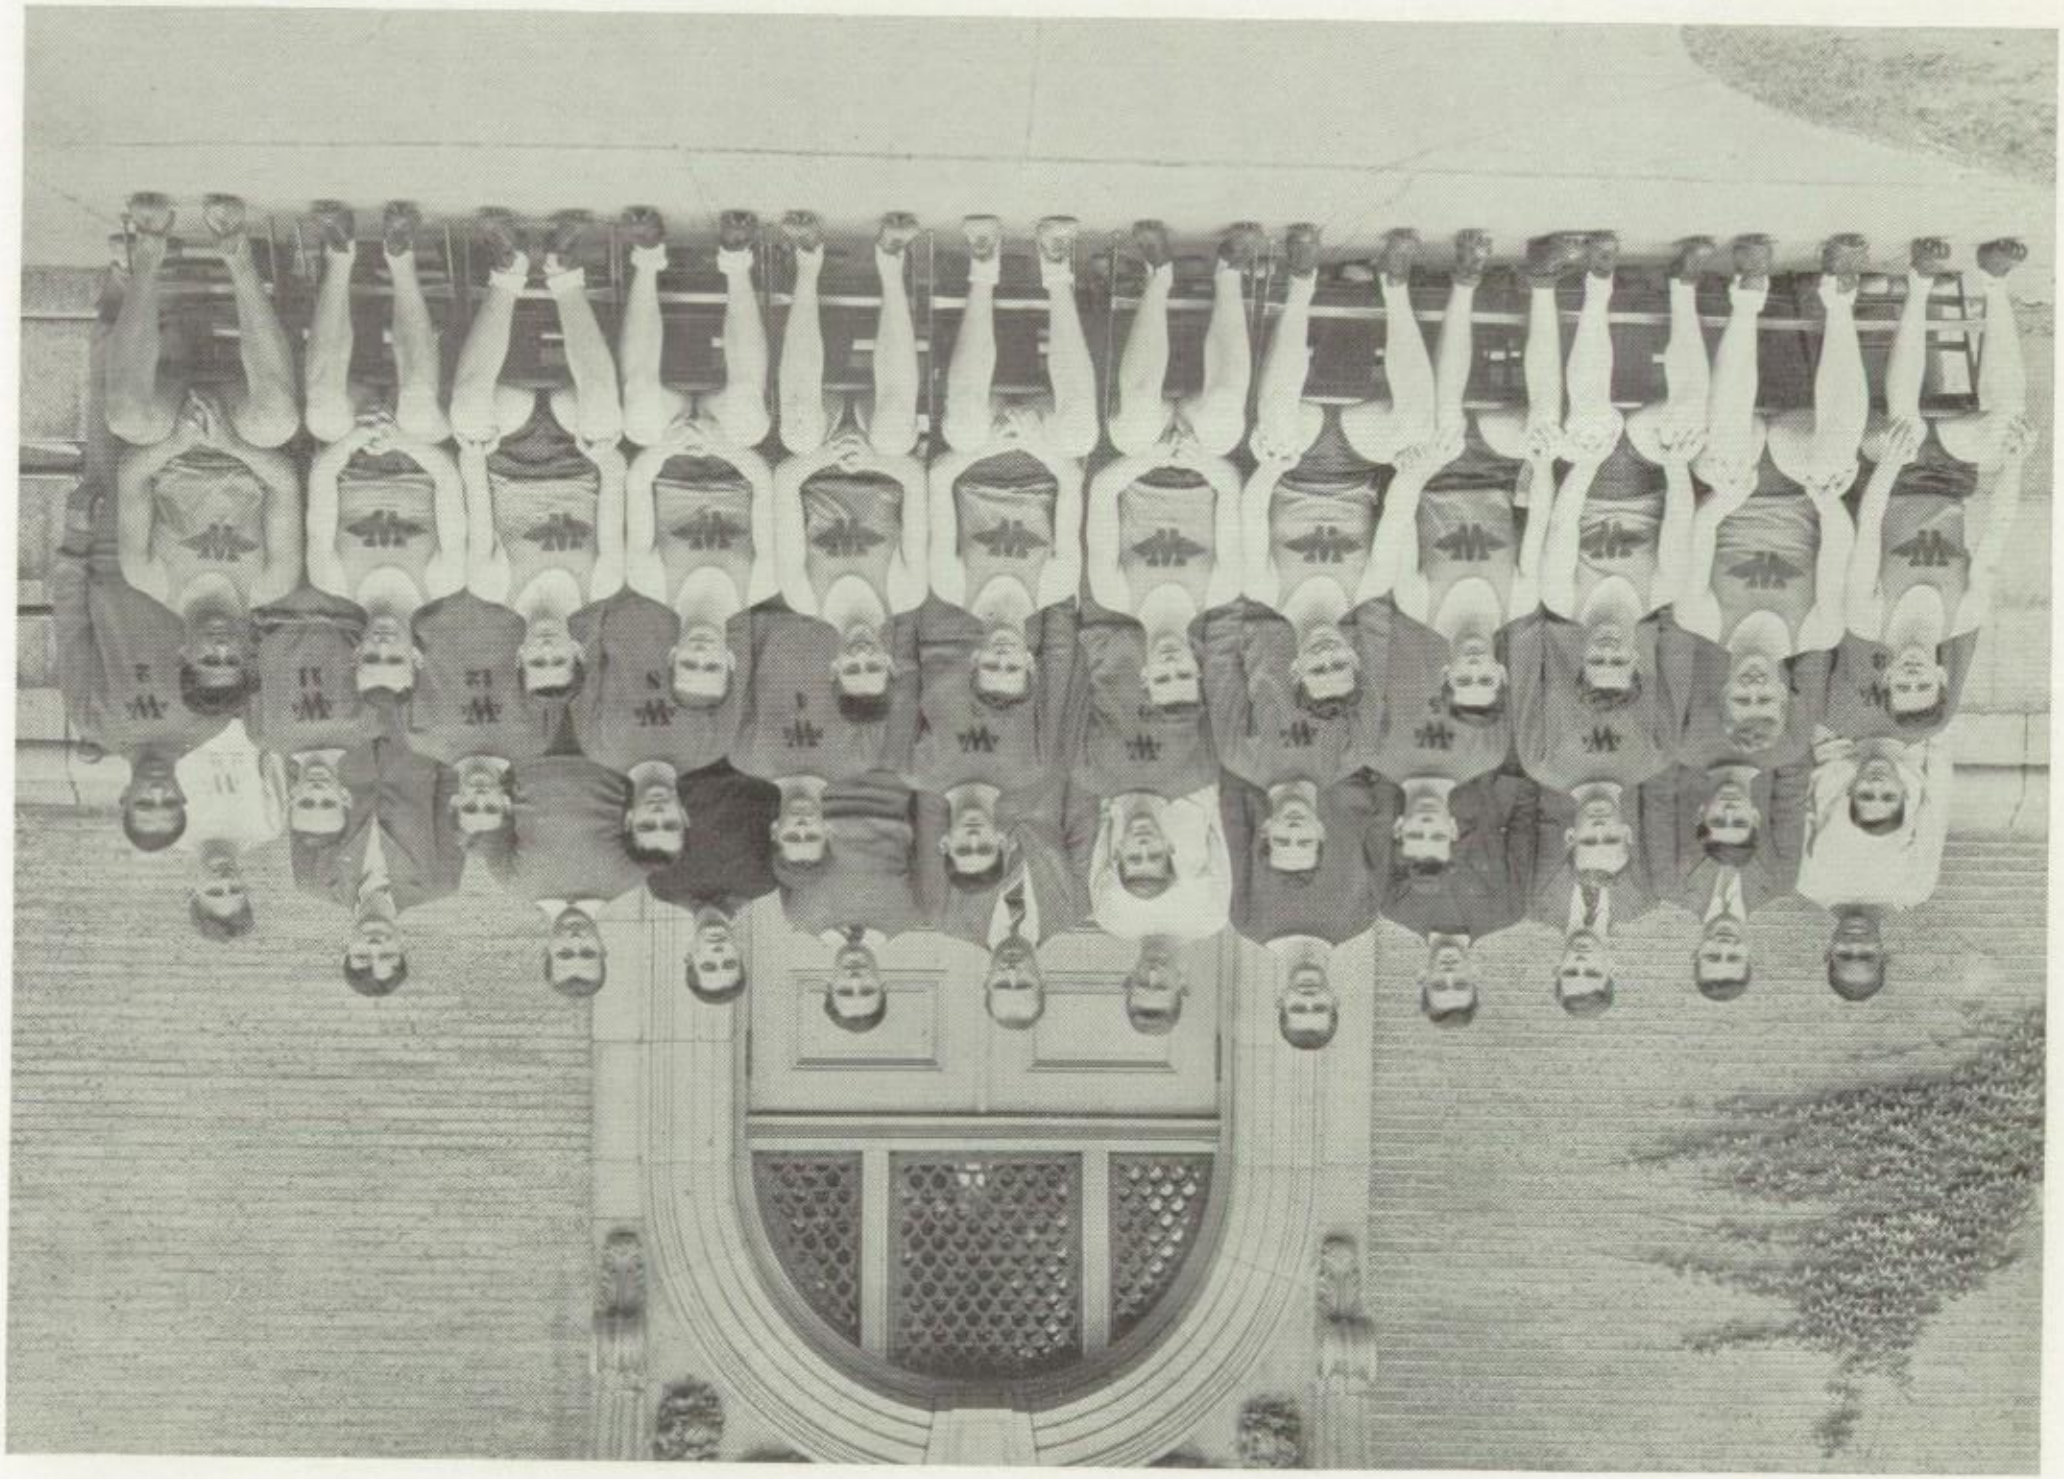
Winchester	8	Wakefield	11

At this time there are yet to be played two games with Woburn and one game apiece with Belmont, Stoneham, Maynard, and Arlington.



Track

This spring Dick Palson filled his brother's shoes of last year, and was chosen by his team mates to be this year's track captain. He was backed up by the rest of a well-rounded team, the most notable members of which were Cliff Harris, Paul Blake, Fred Lindberg, Leo Tracy, Richard Dutting, Eddie Cummings, Frank Hersom, Donald Spaulding, Procter Jones, John Ottiano, Tasker Hatch, Andre Reading, Tom McCarthy, Don Phillips, and John Maynard.

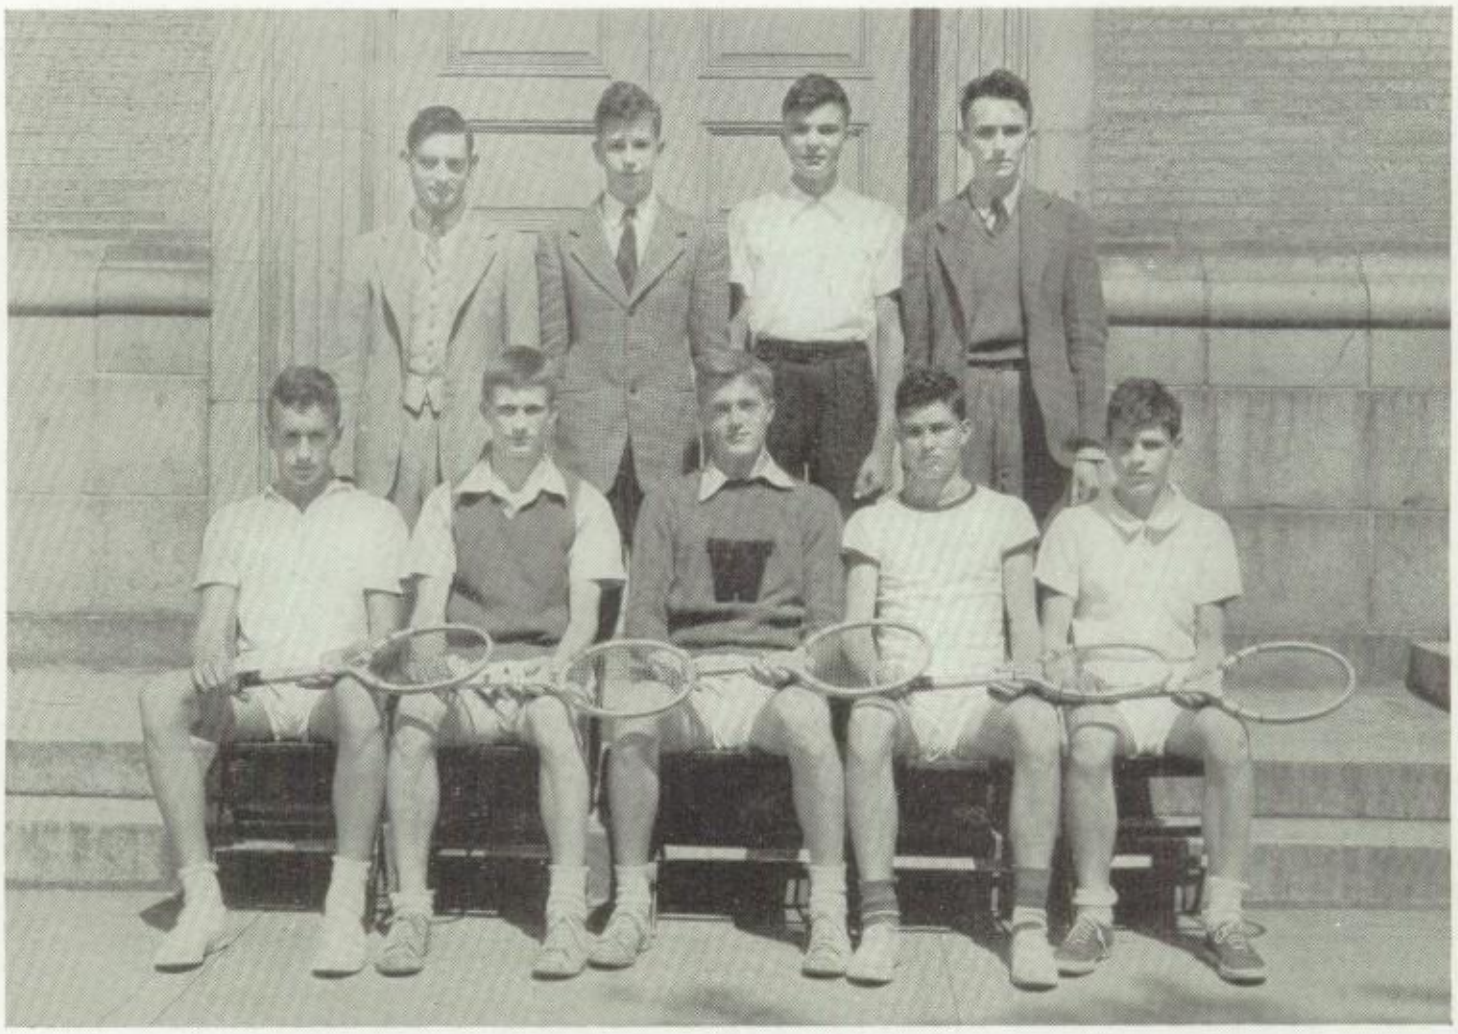
They began their season by losing by only one point to Maynard, but they came into their own by getting a second in the five-cornered meet at Belmont. This winning streak was carried through the next two meets, Lexington and Danvers, only to fall hard at the feet of Waltham. In the Fitchburg relays they did a commendable job, but not exceptional, piece of work At this point they have yet to run in the state meet at Newton and meets at Woburn, Beverly, and Arlington.

Again the team was coached by Mr. Winslow, and its managers were John Eaton and Robert Conlon, who were both dumped into the Aberjona by their team in a confused attempt to show their appreciation. Bruce Underwood assisted Coach Winslow since the 19 year old age limit prevented the former from participating in the events.

Freshman Football Squad

Coach Nichols's 1940 Frosh Football team was looked upon by the other students and the town fans as well as a team of great spirit and hard fight. Of the five games that they played, the first with Belmont, came out a tie, 6 to 6. Unfortunately the rest of the games were lost by very close scores. The results of this team's season might not be quite what we would like them to be, but in this team we can see some good material for Coach Knowlton to work with in later years.

The numerals winners were, Harvey, captain, Cole, Cottone, Cromwell, Derro, DiMambro, Donahue, Ferro, Foster, Green, Hicks, Joy, Leary, McGovern, McGail, Nweblig, Newton, Nihan, O'Neil, Peonessa, Spencer, Tofuri, Tomkins, Weldon, Wilde, and Maynard, manager.



Boys' Tennis

The members of this year's tennis team, in their playing order, were John Penniman, Jim Coon, Lane MacGovern, Jack Tarbell, Stearns Ellis, Gordon MacGovern, and Sam Reynolds as manager. Ted Atkinson, Dick Fenno, and Bill Mooney filled in from the second team.

The first three were constantly fighting for top position and were the co-captains of the team. A surprise from the underclassmen was Gordon MacGovern, a very able player.

The highlight of the season, the interscholastic tournament, was won by Newton with Winchester as a good second. On reviewing the schedule, the tennis season may be regarded as a highly successful one.

Their schedule was as follows:

Worcester Academy	7	Winchester	2
Melrose	1	Winchester	8
Lexington	2	Winchester	7
Newton	5	Winchester	4
Keith Academy	0	Winchester	9
Haverhill	1	Winchester	5
Medford	0	Winchester	9
Andover Academy	7	Winchester	2

Field Hockey

The girls' field hockey team, by losing only one, tying one, and winning five, stayed well up in the bracket of high school teams this past fall. One of the brightest aspects of the record was the fact that only one goal was scored against them to twelve scored by them.

Captain Helen Carroll was the spearhead of every attack and her fine leadership of a well-coached team was largely responsible for the successful season. Besides Helen the first team consisted of Betsy Drake, Alice Davis, Cynthia Foote (Captain-elect), Claire McGrath, Janet Hayward, Joyce Maxson, Joan Moffette, Dolly Greene, and Maxine Lybeck. Rachel Armstrong and Esther Blanchard were the capable managers of the team.

The second team, ably led by Captain Anna Errico, won three games, tied three, and lost only one, and much like the first team had only one goal scored against them to six scored by them.

Second team letter-winners were Captain Anna Errico, Emma Duffett, Dot Richardson, Nancy Dodson, Peggy Carroll, Janet Doub, Shirley Palson, Grace Fillipone, Mary Marchesi, Anna Murray, Barbara Waugh, Mary Lou Allen, Helen Elliot, and Esther Capone.

Girls' Basketball

The girls' basketball team came through in fine style this year, nosing out all six of their high school opponents and trimming the alumnae for an undefeated season. The team played four home games and three out of town games; and the picnic on the return trip from Lexington, the last game of the season, will long be remembered by all. Coach Fenton, in her quiet, subtle (as-an-avalanche) manner, trained the team to a "T" and brought it through to a fine and successful finish, and much credit is due her for her swell work.

Those receiving first team letters were: Janet Hayward, Muriel Fifield, Cynthia Foote, Joyce Maxson (captain), Joan Moffette, Janet Doub (captain-elect), and Frannie Stratton. Elnora Terhune, the bubbling manager, also received a much-deserved letter.

The second team, although winning only three out of their seven games, showed much spirit and gives plenty of promise for next year's varsity. Those receiving second-team letters were Peggy Carroll (captain), Grace Marabella, "Mim" Philbrook, "Doey" Wild, Emma Duffett, Claire Tapley, Ellen Jackson, Marjorie Smith, and Mary Lou Allen, assistant-manager.

Girls' Softball

When the call went out, early this spring, for softball candidates, an enthusiastic crowd of forty girls responded. However, Coach Fenton, realizing that little could be accomplished with so large a group, soon cut it down and finally, after a second cut, the varsity squad was limited to the fifteen most promising players.

The members of the squad are Joyce Maxson, (Capt.), Grace Fillipone, Helen Elliott, Mary Murray, Mary Marchesi, Anne Cummings, Carol Crandall, Jane Coulson, Barbara Browning, Phyllis Russell, Esther Capone, Cynthia Foote, Rita Carson, "Mim" Philbrook, and Frannie Stratton.

Through the efforts of Manager Janet Doub the team has been scheduled to play five games and we hope they have a very successful season.

Girls' Tennis

The Girls' Tennis Team, as usual, is composed of a splendid group of players. Number one place belongs to Polly Kimball, with Helen Carroll a close second, and with Mary Keyes, Dolly Greene, Anne Downer, Betsy Drake, and Muriel Howard following in that order.

The girls' tennis teams in Winchester have always held a very high position among suburban Boston teams and with the present lineup we are sure they will come through on top again.

Cheerleaders

Leading the Winchester rooters through the various sports during the year were these energetic cheerleaders with their unreserved vitality and enthusiasm. Adding a new phase to their curriculum, they also led the cheering for the first time at the basketball games.

The members of the group are:

Edith Dover
John Maynard
Neal Clark
Ed McDevitt
Bob Coon
Betsy Drake
Carol Crandall
Mary Marchesi
Joan Moffette

FACULTY SUPERVISOR: Mr. Samuel Graves

Athletic Association

President	Art Tetreault
Vice-President	Sam Keyes
Secretary	Rachel Kimball
Secretary to Faculty Advisor	Margery Harris
Faculty Advisor	Mr. Hayward

Many new ventures were attempted by the 1940-41 A. A. Executive Board. The Athletic Association which has always been the most powerful organization in the school worked in perfect harmony with the newly installed Student Council.

Janet Smith and Norman Lundin were appointed social and publicity chairmen respectively, at the first executive board meeting. And a new coach, Mr. Henry Knowlton was introduced to the school by the President at the first football rally. The Fall-Sports banquet, which followed the football season, was the usual success. Joseph Caputo and Helen Carroll were awarded the Mansfield-Wheeler Cups at this banquet. The banquet was unique in that the Freshman football letter winners were in attendance for the first time.

The basketball season was definitely a financial success. Cheerleaders were used at a few of the games, but purely for experimental purposes.

Socially and athletically the association flourished under the past administration, but the financial assets diminished. This was due to the extensive purchasing of new equipment, and the limited profits from the football schedule.

Dramatic Society

President	Brock Lynch
Vice-President	Leila-Jane Smith
Secretary	Hope Wilson
Treasurer	Betty Pride

Following the plan which has proved successful in the past, the Dramatic Society was divided into three groups, two of which produced plays under student direction.

A short play, Red Carnations, was presented at the registration meeting in October. The cast was composed of Brock Lynch, Arnold Smith, and Leila-Jane Smith. The play was later incorporated into the Vau-devil Show.

Miss Bailey directed Group Two in a one-act Christmas play for the Freshmen, Phoebe's Christmas Eve. Norma Paradis, Janet Smith, Leila-Jane Smith, Virginia Olivier, Barbara Wansker, Janice Mortenson, Barbara Wood, Virginia Burr, Joyce Pitman, Frances Quimby, Damaris Veitch, David Hersey, William Eaton, 3rd, Herbert Clement, were in the cast. The stage crew consisted of Richard Hall and David Rush.

Group One, under the direction of Janet Smith, produced The Telegram. Those in the cast were Betty Ann Elliott, Virginia Terhune, John Cummins, Alice Parker, and David Rush. Properties and stage management were handled by Sam Reynolds, Allen Bugbee, and William Orr; Margaret Fitzgerald and Mildred Dorsey did the make-up; Josephine Ghormley prompted; and music was supplied by Billy Everett.

Group Three produced The Valiant. Those taking part were Jim Newman, Talbot Smith, Stephen Green, Robert Twombly, Tom Arnold, and Nancy Greiner. Brock Lynch directed.

To finish the year, a party was planned to which all members were invited.

B. Jacks

Library Club

This year the Library Club, through the active work of its President, Virginia McPartland, Secretary, Mary Baghdoyan, former members, and Miss Jacks, our efficient librarian, has increased its membership to eighteen, twice that of last year. However, we are continually looking for more members—not only girls, but boys.

The student government plan, practiced in the study halls, has been put into effect in the library also. The student who presides at the desk doesn't necessarily have to be a member of the club and his duties consist of signing slips and dating books. This practice has worked well and proved very popular.

The social life includes a trip to the Boston Book Fair which is both educational and interesting, the spring party, and the picnic closing the school year.

Junior Red Cross

President . . . . . Polly Kimball
Vice-President . . . . . Rita McCormack
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . Joan Moffette

This year the Junior Red Cross sponsored ten drives, four of which were for the World War Veterans at the Bedford Hospital. Every year, we take over much of the responsibility of supplying the veterans with interesting and worthwhile things, such as joke books, Christmas cards, playing cards, and pencils.

Following another of our annual customs, we collected food for Thanksgiving dinners for Winchester's needy.

Other drives were for: valentines for hospitalized children, magazines for seamen, buttons for the Senior Chapter to use on garments for foreign relief, Easter cards for hospitalized soldiers to send home, and money to buy a water urn for a British Air Raid Shelter.

Again this Spring the Senior Chapter sent one of our homeroom representatives to the National Red Cross Convention in Washington for four days, and we expect to gain much inspiration from her experiences there.

We have had an unusually busy year, and we feel that much of our success is due to Miss White, our faculty advisor. The homeroom representatives have been very cooperative; and we also want to thank the teachers and the entire student body for their generous support.

Junior-Senior Class Play

Love flew in, out, and in again at the McIntyre patio with a quick tempo in this year's Junior-Senior Class production, Young April.

The young daughter, Terry, played by Barbara Regan, almost married the "wrong one," Bob Nichols, until brought to her senses by her understanding mother, Jane Armstrong, and psycholegist father, Arnold Smith. She finally married "the right one" played by Peter Hickey.

No less interesting were the actions of brother George McIntyre, Brock Lynch, in the throbs of his blighted, off-again-on-again romance with Diane, Ann Jo Woodward.

Doris Thornton, as the maneuvering Mrs. Miller, and Tom McCarthy as her dependent son, Steward, both gave excellent performances.

Betty Pride's performance as Lula, the colored maid, will be remembered with a smile long after one will have forgotten the almost uncanny control of "director's temper" demonstrated by the able director, Mr. Small.

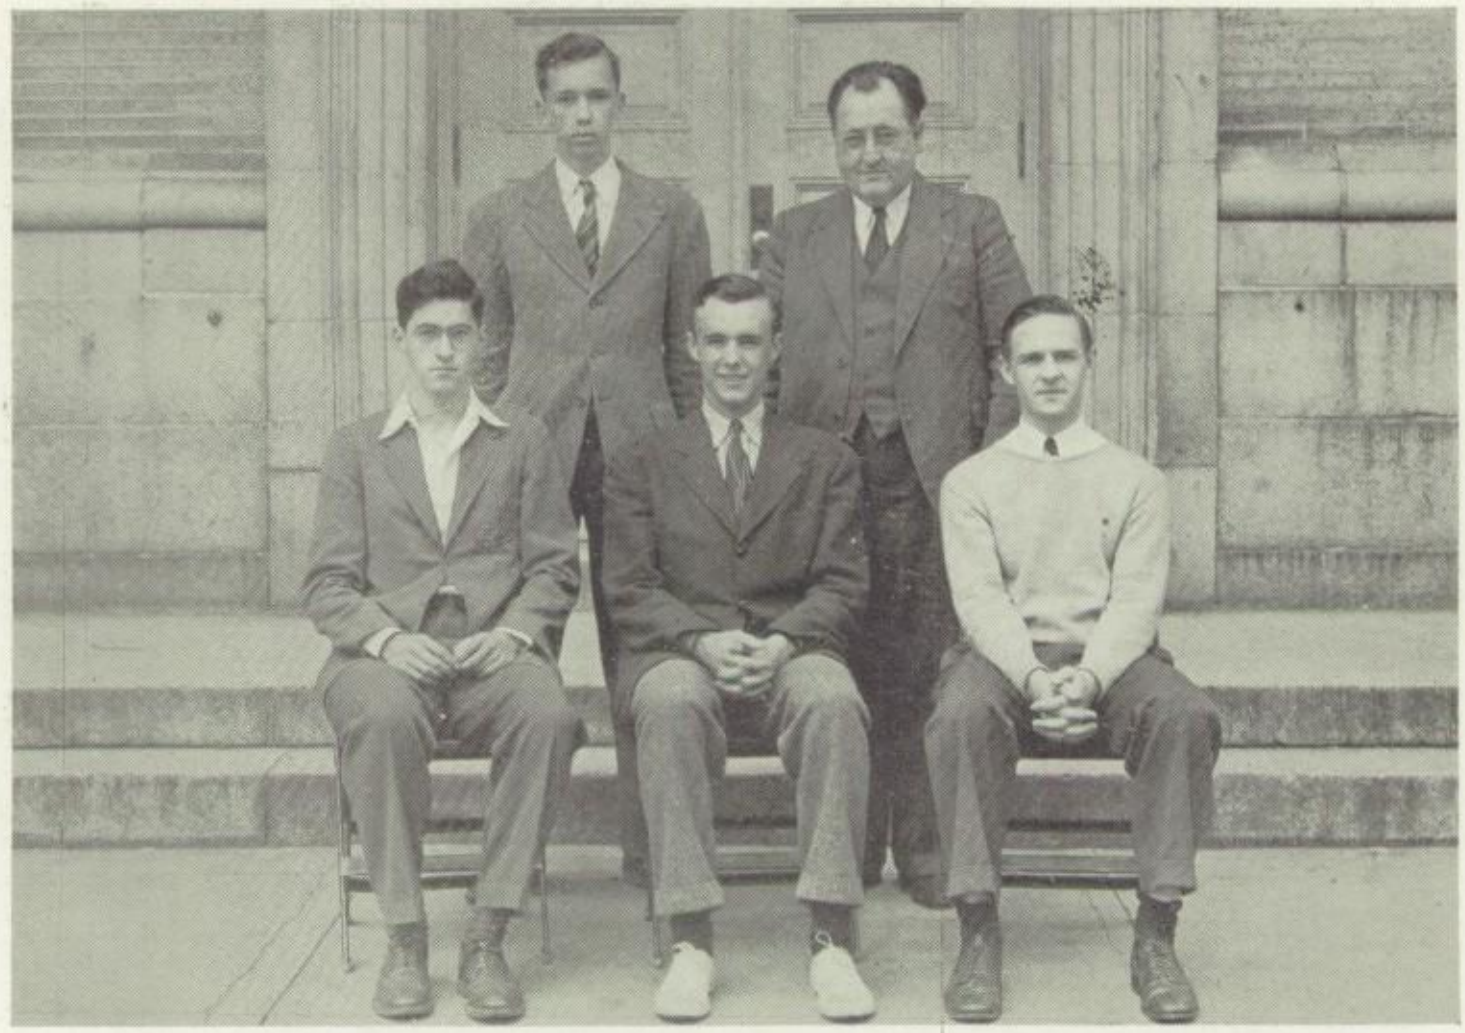
Space does not permit us to speak of the exceptional individual performances by Shirley Brackett, Jane; Dorothy Welsh, Vivian; Claudia Robinson, Elsie; Leila Jane Smith, Mildred; Bill Flewelling, Dutch; Dave Rush, Pete; and those forgotten men back stage, Dan Roop, stage manager; Marjorie Harris, prompter, and Leila Jane Smith, properties.

"The Red and Black" Staff

With a much better organization and one year's experience, the "Red and Black" accomplished great things during 1940-1941. Besides handing out well-reported news, the paper went in for excellent features, gossip, and columns on other subjects. Our new smoothly running subscription system paid the entire debt of the paper by the beginning of summer.

This year's senior staff consisted of Leila-Jane Smith as News Editor, Elnora Terhune as Feature Editor, Brock Lynch as Editorial Editor, Lane McGovern and Art Tetreault as Sports Editors, Harrison Parker as Circulation Manager, and Rosannah Fay and Norma Paradis as Advertising Managers. This staff was ably backed up by a large number of reporters from all classes. In the middle of February, the Juniors took over the paper in order to get experience to carry on next year.

To sum it up, the "Red and Black," with the guidance and advice of Mr. Keeney, improved the school spirit, gave the staff valuable experience, and contributed a great deal to the school year.



Science Club

OFFICERS

President	Richard Merrow
Vice-President	Tasker Hatch
Secretary	James Grimes
Treasurer	Harrison Parker
Representative to the Student Council	Leonard Sherman

The "mad scientists" of W. H. S. and some that aren't so mad, have had an enjoyable and worthwhile season as members of the science club. Lectures and demonstrations have been given on various interesting topics, including: astronomy, milk-testing procedures, hydrogen peroxide, and telephony. Some very fine movies were shown on leather tanning to supplement a trip to Beggs and Cobb's Tannery here in Winchester. This trip was probably the highlight of the club's activities, as it included seeing the tanning and finishing processes and also inspection of their big power plant.

After many postponements on account of cloudiness, a small group of members enjoyed immensely an opportunity of using a six-inch telescope owned by Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth of this town. Several of Jupiter's moons, the rings of Saturn, and the dubble star in the Dipper handle could clearly be seen.

As always, Dr. Alley has been ready to lend his influence and a helping hand whenever he could.

Student Co-operative Government

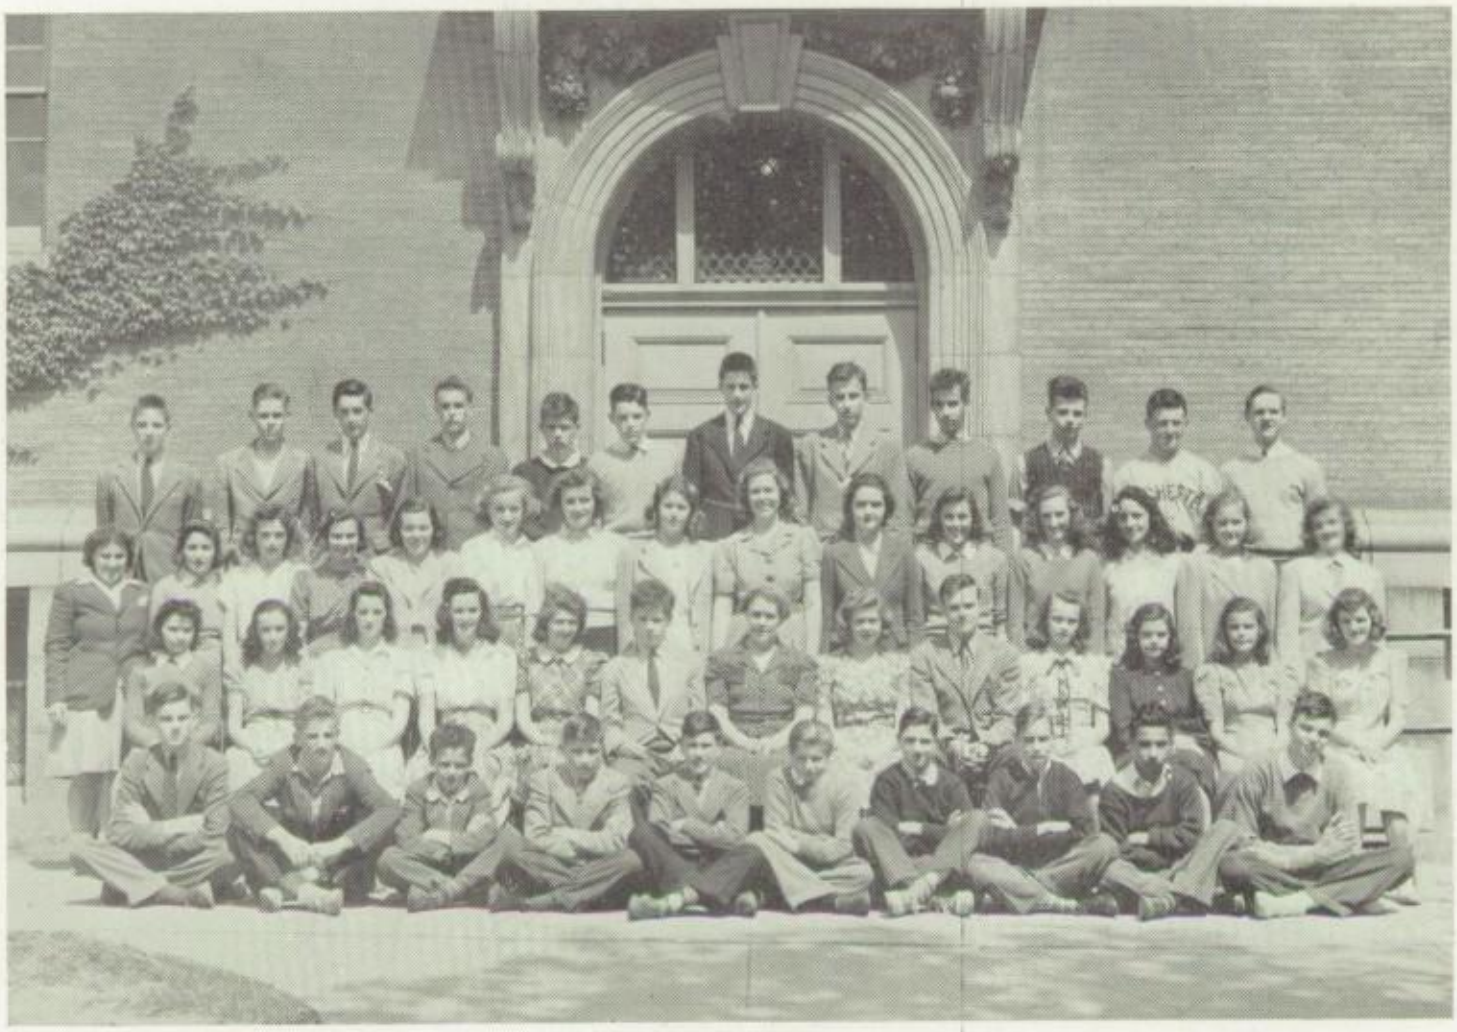
The purpose of student government in Winchester High School is twofold, first, to give every student a voice in the government of the school and to aid in the internal administration, thus encouraging the welfare of the school through the co-operation of pupils and teachers, and second, to unify all student organizations under one general head.

Student Government began its first year in October with the formation of a Student Council composed of representatives from each home room and from each school organization, plus two faculty advisors. Officers elected at the first meeting were as follows: James Stygles, President; Leo Treacy, Vice-President; Polly Kimball, Secretary; Betty Pride, Treasurer. Joseph Duran was elected to fill out the term of Leo Treacy on May 1, 1941.

Among the responsibilities assumed by the Student Council during its first year, the following are worthy of note:

1. Guidance of the Traffic Squad.
2. Management of the Vaudeville Show for 1942. Members of the Council gained some experience as members of this year's committees.
3. Sponsorship of a program of student participation in the management of study halls.

The Council participated in the meetings of the Student Government Association of Eastern Massachusetts. Mary Wood and James Stygles attended the Winter Conference at the Reading High School, while Betty Pride and Bert Callanan attended the Spring Meeting at Wellesley High School.



Thrift Association

President	Peter Hickey
Vice-President	Jane Armstrong
Assistant Vice-President	Neal Clark
Secretary	Elnora Terhune
Assistant Secretary	Roberta Ray
Faculty Advisor	Mrs. Stacy

"Bank day tomorrow," that hackneyed phrase is heard in all home rooms every Monday morning; and Tuesday mornings the future bank clerks puzzle out amounts banked, account numbers, and per cents. Thus far, the Thrift Association has had an outstanding year. Approximately $5000 has been banked; and an average of $98 has been attained. We did not make the perfect work of 100% every time, but 98% is one of the highest average percentages in the history of the Thrift Association. The high water mark was 99.7% and 96.6% was the lowest level reached.

The freshmen on the whole, and rooms 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 want to be congratulated for never going below 100%. Special credit is due to Neal Clark for making this possible. This feat was duplicated by rooms 23, 27, 32, and Mrs. Stacy's roomful of seniors that in the history of banking has never slipped.

1941 Vau-Devil Show

When the curtain rolled down on the 9th performance of the annual Vaudevil Show last March 28th, it marked the final presentation of this performance by the Athletic Association. Appropriately enough this, the climax, was the greatest show of all nine.

The show provided the packed house with three solid hours of joyful entertainment. Each of the 23 acts was a great success, but there were a few that gained special recognition. "Court" Crandall's orchestra provided a continuity from act to act. Jim O'Connor's monologue of his harrowing experience as a member of the A. E. F. during the first "World War" was very appropriate in these days of "draft fever." Brock Lynch, whose name is synonymous with good entertainment in any High School production, returned for his fourth and final; yes, his greatest performance in the "Show of Shows."

The 23rd, final, and perhaps most inspiring act was directed by our new coach, Henry Knowlton, who brought it to us from his student days at Springfield College. This was in the form of eight portraits in silver done by the "muscle" men of the W. H. S. so completely disguised in silver paint that it was almost impossible to distinguish them. Presented one at a time, these tableaux represented athletics in statuary, cooperation, skating, mechanical age, fight, tug-o-war, and a sword dance. Each of the shining symbols was flawlessly executed by a well-drilled cast.

The faculty guidance was supplied by that ever-reliable Mr. Hayward, assisted by Miss Fenton and Messrs. Knowlton and Graves.

The student committees which functioned with superior smoothness were under the general chairmanship of Art Tetreault. The sub-committees were headed by Dan Roop—stage, lighting, and properties; Shirley Brackett, publicity; Ed Murphy, tickets and finance; Dick Palson, programs; Sam Keyes, call boy; Jim Grimes, head usher; and Janet Hayward in charge of the candy girls.

The Orchestra

This year the Winchester High Orchestra has reached unprecedented heights under the able leadership of Mr. Brown. Mr. Brown, who is a cellist himself and is the director of various other orchestras around Boston, came for the first time to our school in January when he was received with much acclaim by the students. It was interesting to learn that he was teaching the orchestra members the methods of directing besides their usual work.

The orchestra gave an excellent assembly program this year which exposed the school to some of Gluck's works and Quelle Tres Jolie by Waldteufel. The program ended with a medley of popular tunes from the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. Solos were rendered on the violin by Jean Stillman and on the cello by Betsy Drake. More programs like this would greatly improve the school's appreciation of music.
